ALLIES CALL HALT TO BERLIN STRIKE

Telephone Protest Delayed

Will Aim Blow At Rate Boost

A resolution protesting the Mansfield Telephone company's request for a rates increase, temporarily delayed, will probably be submitted to city council at its July 6 meeting.

"We are going to make every effort to have the resolution prepared in time for council action," Nelson Swihart, chairman of council's utilities committee said yesterday.

The drafting of the resolution has been delayed by the utilities committee as one of its members, Harry M. Bowman, has been out of the city, Swihart said. He is scheduled to return next Tuesday and a committee meeting will be called soon after that, Swihart said.

If the resolution drafted by the utilities committee meets with the approval of city council, a copy will be mailed to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, as council's official protest of the requested rates increase.

The Mansfield Telephone company filed an application for a general phone rate increase with the PUCO on June 6.

The application is under study by the PUCO accounting and engineering departments. Harry M. Miller, chairman of the PUCO said recently.

PUCO investigation of the application will require "definitely longer than one month," Miller said.

Protests to the phone company's application have already been filed with the PUCO by Local 758 of the United Electrical Workers, which represents 1,200 workers in Mansfield industries.

Richland County Farm Bureau is conducting a study of the application for a rate increase with a view to filing objections with the PUCO.

The Mansfield Telephone company's application requests the following increases for residential phones: single party line, 50 cents; four party line, 50 cents; eight party line, 25 cents.

The proposed boosts for business phones includes: two party line, $2; four party line, $1.75; private branch exchange, 37 cents a trunk line; PBX non-rotary, $2.50, and PBX rotary, $2.87.

Rural residential phones would be boosted 50 cents for both 10 and 12 party lines.

Rural business rate increase would be $2.50 for a 10 party line phone.

Dems Safe In 'Mishap'

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A private airplane carrying Vice President Alben W. Barkley, government and Democratic party officials made an emergency forced landing here yesterday.

No one was injured.

A bad right engine forced the Lockheed Lodestar to land at Port Columbus on a scheduled flight from Washington to St. Louis.

Government officials aboard the twin-engine plane were W. Stuart Symington, secretary of the air force; Attorney General Tom C. Clark, Postmaster Jesse M. Donaldson and Donald A. Dawson, administrative assistant to President Truman.

The 14-passenger airplane is owned by the Knox Glass associates.

The group was en route to a Jefferson-Jackson dinner at St. Louis.

The pilot, J. A. Huth, 29, a World War II navy veteran, said engine trouble developed near Parkersburg, W. Va. He radioed Port Columbus that he would attempt an emergency landing. Emergency equipment was alerted at the field for a possible crash landing.

"There was no danger," Huth said, "but we stopped simply to play safe."

Couple Gets Warm, Married In Cavern

HELLERTOWN, Pa. — (AP) — A young Pennsylvania couple beat the heat Saturday by marrying in a cave where the year-round temperature is 50 degrees.

Naomi K. Peiffer and Robert G. Gilman were married in the chapel room of Lost River caverns where they met eight years ago at a dance. They said they had decided to be married there because of the many happy memories the room held for them.

Planes 'Bomb' British

LONDON —(AP)— The skies over England sizzled with American jet fighters and roared with U. S. Superforts yesterday in the opening of a nine-day air "war" that will test Britain's island defenses.

U. S. "Shooting Star" jets joined RAF "Meteors" in exercises to keep "enemy" B-29 Superforts away from England's vital targets. On the ground, British, French, Belgian and American officers kept score of the maneuvers.

The whole operation has been named "Foil." It is the biggest aerial maneuver since the war, and it is Britain's first major test of its ability to keep the atom bombs away.

Air Marshal Sir Basil Embry, RAF officer, commanded the defending forces.

HEADS 'ATTACKERS'

Maj. Gen. Leon Johnson, commanding the U. S. Third Air division, stationed in England, was in joint command of the "attacking" forces with British Air Marshal Sir Aubrey Ellwood, head of the RAF bomber command.

The sky "war" broke out suddenly and unannounced precisely at noon. Radar screens picked up "bogeys" all over the sky.

Just after the operation began, RAF jets streaked out over the channel to meet the first "enemy." It turned out to be a civilian plane droning its peaceful route homeward. But then the big Superforts began jabbing and feinting, testing the island's defenses. Fighters filled the sky as the first real force of 12 bombers approached from 60 miles out.

At 3 p. m. an "enemy" force of over 30 bombers hit the east coast, penetrated 40 miles inside the defenses and turned north. Fighter command would not say whether the jets and ack-ack had succeeded in "shooting down" the bombers.

Two Americans were hurt slightly as five persons bailed out of a U. S. Superfort participating in the air "war."

Busy Sunday On Tap for City Parks

One of the season's largest crowds is expected to converge on the city parks today. Park Supt. Frank Burton said yesterday.

"Every pavilion in the park system is reserved for the day," he said.

In addition to Mansfielders, a party of 150 Lorain countians will stop off at South park en route to Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm.

The two municipal swimming pools at North Lake and Liberty parks are expected to be busy places, along with the tennis courts and ball diamonds.

But, the weatherman didn't promise much cooperation. The forecast for today was continued hot with possible thundershowers.

Navy Bares New Tests

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Navy plans to test missile models at speeds of 7,000 miles an hour or more—twice the speed reached by weapons like the V-2, and 10 times the speed of sound.

The test models will be tiny. Their outside diameter, including fins, will be only about four-fifths of an inch. They will be fired from a 20mm. cannon barrel in a 313-foot closed tube at the White Oak, Md., naval ordnance laboratory.

By varying the pressure in the tube, it will be possible to calculate accurately the performance of the full scale weapon.

A scientist described the new facility—(it's called an aeroballistics range)—as "a link between the wind tunnel and reality."

The range itself is just being tested. It may be two months or more before model tests can be started.

Swallows Live Crab

CHESTER, Pa. — (AP) — Lawrence Johnson, a 34-year-old stevedore, gave the goldfish eaters something to shoot at Saturday. On a dare from a friend, he gulped down a live, one and one-half pound hard shelled crab.

BABES IN WOODS — Police are quizzing Donald Frazier, navy veteran, (insert) after he abandoned his two youngsters, Peggy, 5, and Patrick, 3, (large photo) on an island in the Seneca river, New York. The children were rescued by a fisherman.

Youngsters Tell Story

Two Abandoned By Vet Father

SYRACUSE—(AP)— A five-year-old girl in pigtails related last night how she and her three-year-old brother spent 24 hours alone on a small uninhabited island in the Seneca river.

The two babes in the woods, Peggy and Patrick Frazier, were found in a shack on the mosquito-infested island.

Being held for questioning was Donald Frazier, 30, their father. A Navy veteran, he surrendered to sheriff's deputies yesterday at the home of his father, Joseph Frazier, near Jordan.

Sgt. Arthur Willis of the Onondaga county sheriff's office quoted him as saying that he left the children on the island while he traveled to Port Jervis, to see his wife.

Willis related that the 30-year-old father, who served in the South Pacific during the war, thought the children would be all right on the lonely, wooded island.

Keith Ricks, at whose home the youngsters stayed overnight, discovered their plight while passing the island in a motorboat.

"Please, take us away from here," was the plea Wicks said he heard.

Wicks said he investigated and found that the only food in the shack was a sunfish and a turtle, both uncooked, a few boiled potatoes and a wild duck that had been burned.

"I wouldn't have fed any of it to my dog," Wicks said.

Lad 'Deposits' Self In Bank

SAVANNAH, Ga. — (AP) — A sweating, very scared little boy was withdrawn last night from a local bank about an hour after he had been deposited there.

Robert Fennell, aged 9, said some of his pals persuaded him to crawl through an accidentally open door on the curb service depository. Ordinarily, large packages are received through this opening.

As soon as Robert got inside, his friends slammed the door shut. An inner door automatically tripped. Robert was dumped unceremoniously on the floor inside. After an hour's excitement, a bank official arrived with the necessary keys.

Race Deadline Set at Midnight Friday

Entry List Still Open For Soap Box Derby

Youthful Mansfield area coaster race drivers and designers have just one more week to get into the "greatest amateur racing event in the world."

Entry list for the 8th annual News-Journal Soap Box Derby will close Friday at midnight. Youngsters signing for the giant international racing spectacle still have plenty of time to get their racers for the Mansfield Derby which is scheduled for July 23.

Change in rules for the 1949 coaster event has made it quite easy for a youngster to get a car ready for the race. No power tools are permitted this year, so youngsters with a basic tool kit can easily construct a car which will have a good chance to cut into the prize melon which will be cut up among the Mansfield contestants.

All a youngster, 11 to 15 years of age, has to do to enter the big race is to appear at the Brandenburg Chevrolet company accompanied by one of his parents.

There is no entry fee and sponsors will be secured to underwrite the costs of the racers. Only six dollars, not including wheels and steering sets, may be spent on a racer.

Two classes have been established so that youngsters will be competing against drivers of their own age. Boys 11 to 12 years of age will race in Class B with those 13 to 15 competing in Class A.

Although the winner and runner-up will get a big slice of the $1,000 awards, all drivers will share in the prizes. Each contestant will receive a free trip to the national finals in Akron Aug. 14 as guests of the Brandenburg Chevrolet company, co-sponsors of the Mansfield race with the News-Journal. Each driver will get an official T-shirt and racing-crash helmet.

A big chicken dinner at the famous Smithville Inn will be one of the features of the trip to Akron for the youngsters.

Some of the prizes to the city champion will be a big trophy, four-day all expenses paid trip to the national finals, bicycle and wrist watch. The runner-up gets a bicycle, trophy and portable radio. Each will also get many smaller gifts.

Other big prizes will be the Shell Oil tool kit for the best constructed car, the Leiendecker Jewelry sportsmanship award (Bulova watch) and a traveling alarm clock for the best upholstered car, and other prizes.

UAW Asks Wage Boost

DETROIT —(AP)— The CIO United Auto Workers served wage demands on Chrysler corporation yesterday.

Chrysler, which employs an estimated 75,000 production workers, was the second major auto firm to get the demands. Negotiations on a new contract have been going on with Ford company since June 2.

The union declined to disclose what it was asking of Chrysler.

It was believed the demands would follow the UAW pattern for 1949. Major goals are a $100 monthly pension for workers who retire at the age of 65 after 25 years service, a health and welfare plan, and an indefinite wage increase.

These are the objectives of the union in Ford negotiations.

The Chrysler contract does not expire until Aug. 1, 1950. However, it allows the union to reopen the wage clause once this year. Bargaining, therefore, will involve economic matters only. Negotiations were expected to begin soon.

Mothers Protest Statue of Nude

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The American Gold Star Mothers of Cuyahoga county complained Saturday about a plan to place a nude female figure atop a proposed war memorial in Cleveland's downtown Mall.

"Such a statue," a resolution read, "would serve rather to degrade the memory of our departed loved ones." The Cleveland Fine Arts commission had approved the statue. Director James M. Lister of the commission pointed out that it would be "probably 40 feet in the air."

Welcomes Probe In 5% Case

Hunt Flays Accusers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — James V. Hunt, management counselor here, said yesterday, "Anyone who says I ever offered to get him government contracts through 'influence' is a liar."

Hunt said he would welcome a congressional investigation of a contract he had with Paul Grindle, a Framingham, Mass., furniture manufacturer.

In a story in the New York Herald Tribune Tuesday, Grindle was quoted as saying that he had given Hunt a $1,000 fee. This, he said, was to be followed by $500 monthly payments for a year, plus 5 per cent of the gross of any government contract he received.

IMPLIED 'INFLUENCE'

Grindle said Hunt had mentioned several government officials, and had implied he had considerable influence.

In his statement, his first since the story appeared, Hunt said:

"I have never tried to sell 'influence.' And none of the people I know in government service are subject to 'influence.'"

Hunt, a former lieutenant colonel who later served as a War Assets administration official, said that if it weren't for men like him, small businessmen would have trouble doing business with the government.

His explanation:

"There are today in Washington so many regulatory bodies, and so many procurement agencies, that the businessman, unless he can afford to maintain a full time Washington office, must employ part time representation here, either on a retainer or a commission basis.

"It is not a question of 'influence.' It is not a question of a 'middleman.'"

To do business with the government, Hunt said, the businessman either must come here himself, or hire someone here to help him.

Hunt said he and his assistants know the workings of the various government agencies, and that he has many friends on their staffs.

But, he said, "I have never asked any of them to do anything that was not entirely proper. If I had, they would have thrown me out of their offices, and rightly so."

AEC Cost Curb Asked

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Senate group voted yesterday to put a tighter curb on the Atomic Energy commission's spending for large construction projects.

An appropriations subcommittee agreed to an appropriation bill amendment aimed at holding back construction expenditures that go above the cost estimates submitted to Congress by the commission.

If costs rose above estimates, projects over $500,000 could go ahead only if the budget bureau approved and if the House and Senate appropriations committees were kept fully informed.

Similar requirements would have to be met before the AEC could start projects of such size for which no estimates had been made in its budget.

Senator O'Mahoney, chairman of the subcommittee, told reporters that "the purpose is to establish a certain brake on expanding expenditures."

Testimony at the House-Senate Atomic committee's hearings on the "incredible mismanagement" charges brought against the commission by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) has cited several instances where construction costs rose above estimates at AEC projects.

Mayor Sees Boy Drown

ELYRIA — (AP) — While the mayor, park commissioner and city service director watched, Michael Mamrack, jr., 12, drowned in the Black river at municipal Cascade Park Saturday.

Mayor Henry Ault, Park Commissioner Hubbard Wilcox and Service Director D. W. Kothe were on an inspection trip through the park and had just finished warning Mamrack and several other boys not to swim at that place. None of the three city officials could swim, and they were unable to help the drowning boy.

DR. S. E. LAFOLLETTE

Pastor Gets Church Post

Will Succeed Mansfielder

Dr. Summer E. LaFollette, pastor of Grace church, Coshocton, is the new superintendent of the Mansfield district of the Northeast Ohio conference of the Methodist church. He was appointed by Dr. Hazen G. Werner, of Columbus, bishop of the Ohio area of the Methodist church, Saturday during the annual meeting of the conference at Lakeside.

Dr. LaFollette will succeed Dr. John D. Green, of Mansfield.

Dr. W. Dwight Heaston, pastor of First church, Cambridge, for the past eight years, was appointed superintendent of the Canton district, succeeding Dr. W. W. Dieterich. Dr. Clark W. Cooper, pastor of Epworth church, Youngstown, since 1946, will succeed Dr. Herbert J. Thompson as superintendent of the Norwalk district.

The new Mansfield district superintendent is a native of Noble county and a graduate of Mount Union college, Western Reserve university, and Garett Biblical institute. He was admitted to the conference in 1913 and served pastorates in Lorain, Youngstown, Chagrin Falls, Barnesville, and Canton before going to Coshocton. He has been pastor of the Coshocton church since 1944.

The annual conference will close tomorrow with appointments to pastorates. Attending the meeting from Mansfield are Dr. Green; Rev. C. W. Stoneburner, First Methodist church; and Rev. J. Frank Stewart, Central Methodist church.

Witness Eats Letter; Man Gets 90 Days

DETROIT —(AP)— A letter that might have been used for evidence in an assault case here Saturday could not be produced because the complaining witness had been forced to eat it.

Mrs. Margaret Dainty, 35, told this story to Recorder's Judge Arthur E. Gordon:

She had obtained a letter from the prosecutor's office ordering her husband, Robert, 34, to appear in court to be placed under a peace bond for beating her.

When she showed the letter to Dainty, she said, he kicked her, struck her with his fists, and then, brandishing a poker, compelled her to chew and swallow the letter.

Judge Gordon gave Dainty 90 days.

Probe Reds In U. S. Capital

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Hearings on the communist party in the national capital have been scheduled for next week by the House un-American activities committee.

A committee official told reporters Saturday:

"We believe the party was organized in the District (of Columbia) to serve as a beachhead for infiltration of the government. We will bring that point out in hearings later this year."

He said communists in the government apparently have gone "underground" because party membership here is believed to have dropped from 416 to 273 in recent months.

Dog Remains True

ATHENS — (AP) — A neighbor had to shoot and kill a small dog Saturday before officers could reach the body of its master. The man, John W. Matheny, 61, had hanged himself with a chain in the basement of his home at The Plains, Coroner John H. Elias said. The dog, standing guard in the basement, would not let anyone enter.

Railmen Win Pay Battle

Go to Work On Tuesday

BERLIN —(AP)— The western commanders last night ordered 14,000 Berlin rail strikers to go back to work.

They said the strikers would receive 100 per cent of their wages in west marks, their No. 1 demand.

They also said they would be cut off the rolls for unemployment compensation if they did not pick up their tools by next Tuesday.

Mayor Ernst Reuter said the strike "probably will be settled" on the basis of the western commanders' plan drafted last night at a stormy meeting. The non-communist strikers, who walked out 35 days ago causing what amounted to a second blockade of the city, called a meeting for this morning, to be followed by a session of the union's executive board.

Blaming the strike for paralyzing Berlin's economic life, the commandants said the high direct cost to the city in unemployment relief for railwaymen was 379,000 west marks $109,100) a week.

STOP ALL RELIEF

The city was ordered to stop relief to strikers who do not resume work by Tuesday. An exception was made, however, for men who are afraid to return to employment with the Soviet-controlled railway system and want to quit the railway permanently. They may keep on relief by declaring in writing the intention of looking elsewhere for work and of not interfering with the railway.

This in itself was a hard blow to the strike. The strikers have been drawing unemployment relief and union benefits in west marks. This was better than an east mark pay envelop when they were working. The west mark is worth about four times the east mark.

The payment of wages in west marks will be guaranteed by the city which will convert up to 40 per cent of their wages in that currency. The Soviet-controlled railway offered to pay 60 per cent in west marks, and perhaps more if west mark revenues were sufficient. Previously the city had offered to convert only 15 per cent in addition to the 60 per cent.

The wage guarantee represented a full victory for UGO in its economic demand. It put the railway workers in a favored position in the western sectors, where other inhabitants employed by eastern firms are permitted only 60 per cent of their wages in west marks.

Asks 3-Day Mine Week

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — (AP) — If the nation's coal operators will agree to a three-day work week, John L. Lewis was reported willing to keep the mines open while he debates new contract terms with them.

That would mean that the 400,000 soft coal miners who Saturday began their annual holiday would have part time work when the 10-day vacation period ends July 5.

The reduction to three days a week also would fit right in with the United Mine Workers president's expressed wish to stabilize employment in the industry.

But it would be a sharp departure from the traditional "no contract, no work" policy of the union. The present contracts between the bituminous operators and the UMW expire June 30.

The report of the Lewis offer was heard here while negotiations with more than half the soft coal industry were in recess until Tuesday.

It had it that the short work week would be in effect during the negotiating period only. Miners would get three days pay.

Ku Klux Klan Told to Unmask

Chief Orders Halt to Wearing of Hoods

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(AP)— The head of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama last night ordered members to stop wearing hoods.

Dr. E. P. Pruitt, chairman of the board of governors of the Federated Ku Klux Klan, incorporated, said members will "discard their visors."

"The visors will be worn only at initiation ceremonies, and similar ceremonies," Dr. Pruitt told newsmen. He said the order is permanent.

"We do not intend to dissolve the Klan, even if our charter is revoked," he added. "We will continue to meet, and we will obey all laws."

Legislation to ban the wearing of masks (hoods) has been approved by the state Senate and is expected to pass the House next week. The bill admittedly is aimed at the Ku Klux Klan.

Hooded, white-robed men have been active in the Birmingham area recently flogging persons, threatening others and burning crosses. Hoods and white sheets are the uniform of the Klan and a fiery cross is its traditional symbol.

Dr. Pruitt has denied that the Klan had part in any of the violence. Two weeks ago he offered a $500 reward to any one who could give positive proof Klansmen were involved.

Mansfield Pilots To Go On All-Ohio Air Tour

By BOB SCHWEITZ

When the All-Ohio Air tour begins July 22 two Mansfield pilots who have been flying together for more than a year will be along with several other area flyers. The two, Edward Them and John Fraifogl, are partners in a Taylorcraft based at Municipal airport.

Them, who lives at 224 Educational place, has been flying since 1937. He served four years in the infantry and Air Force during the war.

Them gained most of his 200 pilot hours on week-ends and evenings. He has taken several trips around the country, one to Florida several years ago. More recently he and Mrs. Them have flown up to Lake Erie to spend some time.

He is chairman of the membership committee of the Mansfield Aviation club.

The other member of the team, John Fraifogl, 44 Wise avenue, first started to fly in 1942 under the Civilian Pilot Training program.

As a Navy pilot he has about 200 combat hours to his credit. He flew a Grumman Hellcat from the decks of the carriers Ticonderoga and Hancock. In all he has about 1,400 pilot hours.

Fraifogl is the father of twin boys, Gerry and Johnny, 3. In trying to convince Mrs. Fraifogl of the practicability of air travel he has hit upon a novel scheme. He takes her up to Cleveland in the Taylorcraft, lands on the lake-front strip and takes a bus to the Square. In less than an hour after climbing into the plane they can be shopping in Cleveland's department stores. Few things please a woman more than widening her shopping scope, he figures.

Reports to Conference

Dr. John Green, retiring Mansfield district superintendent, told the Northeast Ohio Conference of the Methodist church Friday night that conference-wide emphasis on the program for displaced persons has had "gratifying results in the Steubenville district where $2,000 has been raised and applications for 19 DP's sent in."

Dr. Green made his statement in presenting the report of the Town and Country commission. He is one of three Mansfielders who are attending the annual conference at Lakeside. Other Mansfielders at the conference are Rev. C. W. Stoneburner, First Methodist church, and Rev. J. Frank Stewart, Central Methodist church.

The conference group reiterated its belief that military schools cannot create conditions of peace. Members voiced opposition to the "unprecedented continuance of military influence in the affairs of our nation since the close of World War II."

The report of the Social Service commission, presented by Rev. Charles H. Jack, Youngstown, noted with regret that a Methodist college has seen fit to invite the Army to establish an ROTC unit on its campus. The report added, "it is our belief no Methodist college should invite an ROTC unit to its campus."

The report critized the House Committee of Un-American Activities for its pamphlet "100 Things You Should Know About Communism and Religion." The report stated the pamphlet is "filled with falsehoods and contains many unsubstantiated accusations and implications."

One-Season Show Proves Good For 9

MANTEO, N. C. —(AP)— The mystery of what happened to the "Lost Colony," first English settlement in America, probably will remain unsolved forever.

No detective however is needed to find the cause for the tremendous success of the symphonic drama based on the ill-fated colony established by Sir Walter Raleigh here on Roanoke Island in 1587.

The public simply won't let it fold.

As a result, "The Lost Colony," a drama written for a one-season stand way back in 1937, will begin its ninth year of production on Saturday, July 2.

Staged in an amphitheatre seating over 3,000 persons in the historic site of Fort Raligh, three miles north of here, "The Lost Colony" has become a major tourist attraction.

The drama had its premiere on July 4, 1937.

City's Safety Town to Open Monday

LEFT TURN TIPS—About 50 per cent of the traffic tie-up and slow down in Mansfield's downtown section is caused by persons making improper left turns, according to police department records. To aid the street department in an effort to remedy the trouble, Supt. Eldon T. Davis, has recently painted lines in the center lanes of streets for drivers making left hand turns. Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals reports than many pedestrian accidents and downtown collisions are caused by drivers who do not know proper left turn procedure. In cooperation with Boals and Safety-Service Director Earl T. Garrison, the News-Journal offers this series of pictures and instructions to Mansfield drivers: (1) Decide in advance where you are going, in order to get into the proper lane in plenty of time. Don't forget the hand signal. (2) Drive straight between the lines and stop four or five feet before the cross-walk if the traffic light is red. That will allow others turning into your street to get past your car and also it will give pedestrians the right of way. (3) When you get the green light pull out into the center of the intersection, turn your wheels a little and STOP. It is important that you pull out all the way under the light. After you've stopped, make sure oncoming traffic gets through before you complete your turn. (4) This picture demonstrates how you should give pedestrians the right of way at all times. You should keep to the right of center of the street you are entering.

Kenneth E. Dwyer, of Cleveland, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding. Carl A. Wiseman, of 236 Fairlawn avenue, arrested for illegally crossing a yellow road line, forfeited a $25 bond when he failed to appear in court.

Churches Schedule Annual Lawn Fetes

By EILEEN DEWHURST

It's homemade ice cream time in the Richland county rural communities.

Hundreds of Mansfielders will attend lawn fetes at area churches in the next few weeks to get their annual taste of that old-fashioned treat which is the main attraction at most of the lawn fetes.

However, ice cream will not be the only attraction at the summer festivals. There will be tempting food of all kinds offered at the lawn fetes, including sandwiches, homemade cakes and coffee.

Although homemade ice cream of the old-fashioned freezer kind will be offered at most of the lawn fetes, a few have stopped making it in recent years because of the hard work involved.

Mansfielders will get an opportunity to sample some country cooking next Saturday evening when Franklin Methodist church holds its annual lawn fete on the church grounds.

The Olivesburg Methodist church will hold its lawn fete July 9, and Oakland Lutheran church has scheduled its annual outing July 28.

Members of the Pavonia Methodist church usually hold their lawn fete in August, but no definite date has been set yet.

All of the lawn fetes will begin about 6 p. m. and serving will continue throughout the evening.

Children Learn to Save Lives

Project Set Up at Prospect School

By GAYLORD HAKE

Mansfield's nationally-publicized safety town, designed to teach five-year-old youngsters the fundamentals of safety, opens at 9 a. m. Monday at Prospect school playground.

The first operation of the toyland village equipped with tiny automobiles and an electrically - operated traffic light will be for an estimated 50 children who will enter the first grade at Carpenter and Prospect schools next fall.

Each group of youngsters attend the safety school for two weeks. They are taught one safety lesson each day, Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals said.

"We don't try to teach them too much so they can remember what they learn," Boals said.

There will be five two-week sessions this summer, all at Prospect school playground.

In former years the Safety Town was moved over the city.

Bus service is provided for the youngsters. The bus will stop at Carpenter school at 9 a. m. Monday and at the corner of Giessner and Sturges avenue at 9:05 a. m.

The bus will return the children to these spots at 11:35 a. m. after the class for the day is over. Provision is made for parents who wish to accompany their children to the school.

IN 120-FOOT AREA

Safety Town, a 120-foot square area containing streets, sidewalks, stop signs, a traffic light, and miniature buildings, was originated by Boals in 1937, but was discontinued during the war years.

When it was resumed last year, after a five-year interruption, some 315 children received the benefit of the organized safety program.

In teaching the fundamentals of safety to youngsters, who next fall will be walking to school for the first time, the children will act as both motorists and pedestrians.

There are tiny cars which the children will operate, and there is an electrically-operated traffic light that flashes red, yellow and green.

Each day the children will learn new safety rules and "act out" hazardous traffic situations and how to prevent them.

The total cost to parents is the bus fee for the trip to Prospect school, which is $2 for the 10 days. If the bus is not used there is no cost.

'Bargains' Return In Buyers' Market

NEW YORK—(AP)—If you want to buy something, now is the time to start looking for bargains.

That's the word going the rounds in the retail trade. And the retailers themselves are making a new appraisal of other policies of buying from manufacturers.

It's a developing phase of the post-war buyers' market that is presenting to the consumer a greater variety of goods with higher quality and lower prices than at any time since the days when you were offered black market butter.

Bargains don't mean cheap goods. It means you're getting more for your money. And it doesn't mean that everything is down in price and up in quality to the level that you might consider "right."

But more consumers' goods are at this "right" level than at any time in years. And manufacturers and retailers plan to bring more items into that category as fast as they can get them on the shelves.

There is still plenty of "junk" warming the shelves. And some prices are still so high that you wouldn't think they knew the war was over. Retailers are acutely aware of that. They don't like it, either.

In other words, we've gone through a sellers' market and into the beginning of a buyers' market. Now we are approaching a situation that hasn't been seen for so long that it has become strange — a normal buyers' market.

The overall picture shows that right after the war consumers bought everything they could lay their hands on at any price. Retailers gave it to them and made manufacturers' wheels hum at capacity rates.

The consumer got his fill eventually, retailers found inventories backing up, and manufacturers' stocks piled up in warehouses. That's when business slowed down.

EXPENSES MOUNTING

At the same time department store expenses went up. Last year they increased to the point where gross profits were squeezed to the smallest percentage since 1940, even though sales were almost triple pre - war 1939. This year it looks as though profits may be forced down still further.

When retailers contracted their buying, the usual thing was to place initial orders and then sit back to see what lines the public wanted most. Then they put in a quick re-order for the fast moving items.

That's sound business practice, of course, but just lately there's a catch in it that provides a pretty big straw in the trade winds. Some manufacturers have cut down their own production and stock to the point where they haven't got the goods to sell when retailers start reordering. If they can't make up the order in time to meet the consumers seasonal demands, the retailer loses the business.

When that happens the manufacturers adopt an "I told you so" attitude and again advise retailers to place their orders early and often. Better take a chance on a heavier inventory, the manufacturers say, rather than lose sales when you haven't got the goods.

At the moment, hand - to - mouth buying by retailers is still the rule. But the rule is softening. Consumer complaints are mounting that they can't get the style, size, type, quality or price that they want without shopping around through a number of stores.

Shopkeepers don't like to see customers walk out saying: "I think I'll shop around a while." They are, therefore, building up their stocks carefully. Retailers understandably don't want to be caught with a big high - priced inventory. They want to hold off and get the lowest possible prices. So do their customers.

Furthermore, in order to please customers, stores are polishing off their pre - war services along a number of lines. Retailers' associations are working earnestly on employe selection and training programs. Stores don't hire the first person who walks in. They give them tests and pick the best. Then they train them to actually sell merchandise. Growling and sneering at customers is frowned on severely.

3 Governors Rate High At Conference

Dewey Stands As Question Mark

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Three men rode out of the 41st annual governors' conference in Colorado Springs, Colo., last week with 1952 flags flying a little higher.

But the big question still is: what is Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York going to do?

Dewey's 1948 running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California, was regarded as the Republican who made the most political hay on the slopes of the Rockies at a conference where politics is always of top concern because its open discussion is tacitly barred.

On the Democratic side, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois and Frank J. Lausche of Ohio added some luster to their leadership in the big-vote states which often produce presidential candidates.

Not quite the star of the show he was last year — before he took his second licking for the presidency — Dewey nevertheless was one of the main attractions.

The consensus of those who admit they don't know what Dewey is planning for his political future is that he might run for governor again next year — under certain circumstances. None of Dewey's friends seem to think he can be enticed into the race to succeed ailing Democratic Senator Robert A. Wagner regardless of whether Wagner resigns in time for a special election this year.

Republican governors willing to talk about it privately said they don't think Dewey has any present intention of trying for a third GOP presidential nomination in 1952. Most of them think Dewey won't run for governor again if another strong Republican candidate can be found.

But none of them counted Warren out of the picture, pending his expected bid for a third term as California's governor next year. Warren might face James Roosevelt as a Democratic opponent in that contest.

Warren more than ever seems to represent the GOP wing that believes the Republicans won't get anywhere attempting to match Democratic promises of federal government service during the campaign and then attacking as "state socialism" the Democrats' attempts to carry out their promises after they have won.

Warren's friends say he thinks the Republican ticket was licked last year because the people just didn't believe that the Republicans intended to carry out their promises.

Actor Returns To Scene of Triumphs To Repair Theater

LONDON — (AP) — London's famed Gaiety theater, closed since 1939, may reopen soon. For ten years it has been a ghost standing in Aldwych.

It was known as the original home of the glamor girl, old timers of the Edwardian era get misty-eyed when they think about it. They say it had the "most famous stage door in the world."

The Gaiety was used badly by changing times and the war. Nazi bombs fore holes in the roof.

But even now memories of its glories are so vivid that the London county council which owns the ground under it couldn't tear down the old building. It was permitted to stand idle on the city's highest priced real estate, a sort of shabby monument to the brightest age of the London theater.

Now the ministry of public works, which controls concrete, paint, lumber and other materials, has agreed to permit a modest amount of repair and actor Lupino Lane, turned business man, has undertaken to bring back the Gaiety.

Dollar Shortages Pinching Airlines In South America

BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — The dollar shortage has hit U. S. airlines hard in some South American countries.

Big companies like Pan American and its affiliate Pan American - Grace (Panagra) must spend dollars for equipment and for most of their salaries, gasoline and other supplies.

When they sell a passage and collect a so - called soft currency like the Argentine peso, for example, they need to transfer at least part of the money to the United States.

For the past year this has been increasingly difficult here and elsewhere because dollars were scarce. What few dollars each country got had to be rationed out for basic essentials like fuel and machinery for the nation as a whole. Balances tied up in funds that cannot be used run into the millions of dollars in Argentina alone.

There was another problem. Some smart travelers, who had plenty of pesos and no dollars, tried to start a mild racket.

A traveler planning to leave Buenos Aires would buy passage by Pan American or Panagra for a trip around the world with the first stop in the United States. He would pay pesos for his ticket. Once arrived in Miami or New York, he would cancel the remainder of the trip and ask for a refund on the unused portion of his ticket — in dollars, of course.

In this way some travelers who couldn't get permission to take dollars with them on trips tried to use a routine air line operation to make the transfer for them. It meant the airline got more pesos and lost dollars, and the traveler had evaded his nation's exchange regulations.

Few got by with this smart idea. Nowadays, a wiser airline stamps "redeemable only in Argentine pesos" on tickets sold for pesos.

Various countries have applied various remedies for the dollar shortage on plane passages.

In Buenos Aires, an Argentine citizen or permanent resident can use Argentine pesos to buy his passage to any foreign point, but he can't buy a round trip. His return passage must be paid at the other end.

Any foreigner in Argentina who is not a permanent resident must pay dollars for his passage going and coming. If he doesn't have dollars he must go out into the black market and get them at around 10 pesos per dollar, just about double the official rate. It just doubles the cost of a trip to him.

In Bolivia everybody, including Bolivian citizens must pay dollars for all international plane travel. The Bolivian currency the boliviano, is 42 to one dollar in the official market but it is 100 to one across the free market counter.

In Peru, Panagra will accept soles at an inflated rate. The sole is worth officially six and one-half to the dollar. In the open market it is as low as 19 to one dollar. Panagra splits the difference and takes soles for plane passages at 12 to the dollar.

Start Drive On Venereal Diseases

Health Officials Join Ohio Campaign

The Mansfield-Richland county health departments will join in a state-wide campaign of education on venereal disease during July and August, Health Commissioner Harry Wain said yesterday.

The primary purpose of the two-month campaign will be to give the largest possible portion of the population up-to-date facts about syphilis, its prevention and cure. Scare techniques will not be employed, Dr. Wain said. The entire approach to the problem will be affirmative, telling what to do, and as far as possible, how and why, he added.

Posters and informational literature will be distributed by the local health departments, Dr. Wain said.

Federal statistics show there are 3,000,000 victims of syphilis in the United States. Ohio has some 180,000 recorded cases.

Last year, 178,000 new cases were reported throughout the nation, according to federal figures. These show a trend to younger age groups.

Largest incidence of new infection was in the 14-to-16 age bracket, federal figures showed.

"It is these reasons which are behind the intensified campaign against syphilis at this time," Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the Ohio department of health, said.

"The Ohio department of health cannot set morals of the state, or any of its homes or communities," Dr. Porterfield added, "but by giving widespread availability to the facts about venereal disease we can protect people from falling victims to ignorance and arouse them to fight this disease both at its source and in themselves if they become infected."

More cases of syphilis were reported in Ohio last year than any other disease, the state department said. Syphilis outnumbered measles, chicken pox, mumps and whooping cough. It far outnumbered tuberculosis, pneumonia, diphtheria and polio. There were almost 260 cases of syphilis for every one of influenza.

Instructors Ready for Swim Course

5 Back From Camp In Indiana

Five Richland countians returned yesterday ready to begin their duties next week as instructors for the annual Red Cross swimming program which opens its first session July 5.

The five attended a 10-day aquatic training period at Camp Limberlost, LaGrange, Ind., on scholarships from the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross.

The five, who now are graduate instructors, are John Domar, 124 Rae avenue; Don Elias, 27 Hoffman avenue; Miss Patricia Hieber, Mansfield, R. D. 1; Miss Nancy Sorenson, 390 West Third street, and Miss Joan Henson, Shelby.

Gerald C. Coron, director of safety services in the Richland county chapter, was on the faculty at the aquatic school.

Richland countians still may register for either of the two swimming sessions by filling in the application blank in today's News-Journal and returning it to the Red Cross office. The classes are open to all residents of the county, six years old or older, without charge.

Classes will be taught at both North Lake park and Liberty park pools. If applicants have a preference of pools they should indicate their preference on the application blank, Coron said.

The first session will begin July 5 and continue through July 29; the second starts Aug. 2 and continues through Aug. 26.

Morning classes for beginners, intermediates, and swimmers will be one hour long, running from 8 a. m. until noon.

Junior and senior life saving and adult classes will be taught from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m. at both pools. There will be a beginners swimming class for business men and a beginners class for husbands and wives from 7 to 8 p. m. at Liberty pool if there are enough applicants.

All classes will be taught Monday through Friday.

BEES VISIT CITY — A swarm of bees made a multiple-point landing Saturday afternoon on a bush at the home of Mrs. U. S. Henry, 14 North Adams street. They were coaxed to a halt when J. R. Baith, Route 2, and Walter S. Bodley, operator of a service station at the corner of Park avenue east and North Adams street, beat vigorously on a tin funnel. Carl Wilging and son, Walter Wilging, Route 3, Mansfield, are shown removing the vagrant bees from the bush.

Another Shortage Comes to an End

Another shortage has ended. Since war days, chorus lines have been scarce as attractions for floor shows outside the largest cities.

Now the lines are coming back, and the first to appear in Mansfield for several years is scheduled at the Graystone Night club, opening Monday, according to Eddie Black, manager. The chorus is Marie Ott's dancing girls.

Tope Heads Young GOP

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)—John Tope, Michigan businessman, was declared elected chairman of the Young Republican National Federation Saturday, although supporters of his prime opponent succeeded in forcing a recheck.

Tope was announced the winner over Laughlin E. Waters, California legislator, by a vote of 222 to 208.

Waters' backers claimed the Michigan man lacked a majority and supporters of Tope, a dark horse candidate, agreed to a second roll call.

Miss Pat Loomis of Michigan, spokesman for Tope's supporters, said their candidate "would not want the office if there is any question of the legality" of his election. The recount made it legal.

11 Ministers Given Trial

Dale Clark, New London, and Edmund Keller, North Fairfield, were admitted with nine other ministers to the North-East Ohio conference of the Methodist church yesterday on a trial basis.

Eleven others, none from the Mansfield area, were admitted on a full membership basis.

The conference also heard an optimistic report from Dr. E. Harold Mohn, Chicago, on work accomplished in the first seven months of the church's "Advance for Christ and His Church."

Dr. Mohn, executive director of the advance movement, stated the financial phase of the advance exceeds all early expectations. It gives promise, he declared, for substantial expansion in world's service, missionary specials and a spiritual awakening throughout the denomination.

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

How Those Millions Are Divided

WHEN millions of dollars are mentioned in connection with a big business there is an inclination among some people to feel that too large a share of the money handled goes to profits and too little to workers.

This belief is sometimes evidenced in claims that wages can be substantially increased without rise in prices of manufactured products, but experience during the past few years has demonstrated the fallacy of this contention.

An example of what happens to the money taken in as a part of "big business" is seen in a report of one of the largest industries for the first quarter of this year, in which sales amounted to $414,000,000.

Here is a summary of how that money was divided:

First of all, close to half—$210,000,000 went for materials, services, taxes other than federal income, and other unavoidable expenses.

Next, the company's employes received $163,000,000 in pay checks, pensions, insurance and other benefits.

Uncle Sam then moved in to the tune of $23,000,000 for income taxes.

The needs of the business—inventories, expansion and so on—required $13,000,000.

Finally, the stockholders—the owners of the business who made its existence possible—received $14,000,000. That amounted to 3.4 cents out of each dollar the company took in. And a very substantial part of it will go to the government in the form of federal and state individual income taxes.

While capital investment—some of it highly speculative—is quite generally recognized as an essential factor in successful industrial operation and growth, it is frequently not taken into account that return on this investment represents such a small part of the money handled in doing business.

Must Have Detention Home

THE POSITION taken by Probate-Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer, that it is the legal obligation of the county commissioners to provide suitable detention quarters for county juveniles under investigation, cannot be disputed.

Quartering children in jails is reminiscent of those periods in history which civilized men blush to remember. And children are being kept in the city and county jail in Mansfield, not because of any unforeseen emergency, but simply because for years it was possible to foist juveniles off on the Salvation Army which finally and justifiably said "No!"

Temporarily, at least, there would seem to be no objection to the county's renting or purchasing a residence which, with a little alteration and adequate supervision, could be used as a detention home until a permanent solution can be achieved.

But there can be no excuse for continuing the present deplorable practice of housing children, whose principal "crime" may be that they are unfortunate, in a public jail.

Teachers Have Different Ideas

TEACHERS of British and Continental schools, after a year or two of teaching in American schools under the teacher exchange system, usually say in one way or another that they prefer teaching under the more strict disciplinary systems of European schools.

The idea is that good discipline is necessary to good work, and there is something in it. There is room for difference of opinion, however, as to what constitutes good discipline.

A Welsh teacher who had just finished teaching for a year in an Ohio school had a further remark to make on the passing of students from grade to grade, which also has something to do with the relationship between discipline and learning. In the schools of Wales only about two-thirds of the students pass each year, he said, and standards of attainment, required for passing, are higher.

In America a teacher who passed only two-thirds of his pupils probably would have an uncomfortable session with the superintendent, who would have had an equally unhappy time with the board of education. In general the American teacher is expected to pass most students, on the theory that the children should remain in their proper age groups as far as possible.

This idea also has merit, but the matter is open to question. Standards of learning in the schools today are attacked frequently by educators themselves, and by others. Perhaps it might be well to set higher requirements for passing, making the step from one grade to the next something to be worked for with interest and industry instead of something taken for granted by the average pupil.

Greenland Less 'Icy' Now

GREENLAND is getting warmer, according to the Danish prime minister, Hans Hedtoft. This includes the surrounding waters, so that cod are coming to Greenland's shores and seals are leaving it. As cod fishermen do more direct trading than seal hunters, this has resulted in an increase in retail stores.

In spite of the popular concept of Greenland as a land of the "icy mountains" mentioned in the hymn, there is a good deal of fertile soil, permitting the growth of grass and flowers. And there is a permanent settlement of Danes and Eskimos with money and leisure enough to support an Eskimo monthly magazine. This has the engaging title of Atuagagdliutit, and has been going since 1861. Copies are in several large American libraries.

Greenland got its name originally as a promoter's stunt. Erik the Red, who found it in 987, thought that it would attract more settlers if it had a taking name; so he called it Greenland. As a matter of fact, the fertile part of the island would seem green to anyone who, like Erik, came from Iceland, whose dominating color is that of bare rock.

Admire the frankness of one professional golfer credited with the classic remark: "I have no particular reason for wanting to win except that they pay the winner the most money."

One observer comments: "If Nature were smart a man would be as sleepy when it was time to go to bed as he generally is when it's time to get up."

A Voice From the Country

Money Will Not End China's Ailments

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

THERE is a good deal of nonsense in circulation about Marshall Plans for Asia and especially aid for China. Some of it comes from old-fashioned liberals and do-gooders who believe that disastrous conditions can be changed by making laws or spending money or merely by wishing. The rest of it is largely nonsense, emanating from elements which have special commercial interests in the vast area of Asia, either now or in what they hope may be an orderly future. They would have us take all sorts of measures, ranging from wholesale spending to the worst tactics of the imperialist Nineteenth Century, in order that their own selfish interests may be advanced.

BROMFIELD

There is also a very small but fairly powerful group of Republican reactionaries working in Washington in a somewhat futile attempt to make the collapse of China appear the result of administration policy.

This is obvious nonsense. The Chiang government would have collapsed before any warlord with a moderately well organized and equipped troupe of brigands.

Most of these people actually know very little of conditions economic, agrarian or sociological in China and Asia. None of them have any conception of the monstrous complexities and handicaps which continuously block social or economic progress or orderly government throughout most of the Far East.

The selfish ones make few pretensions. They simply want to deal with whatever regime is in power which is, perhaps, a better and more sensible policy than that of the do-gooders who think that order and democracy can be achieved merely by wishing.

* * *

Even Russia Is Wary.

FUNDAMENTALLY, of course, the question is — if we are going to have a Marshall Pact for Asia or help China establish a stable moderately respectable government, whom do we help? Of course, there isn't any answer, whether the problem arises in Burma or Malaya or China of Java.

There is no stable or democratic governments in any of those areas and there is unlikely to be any for at least a century.

Even Soviet Russia, with a total lack of moral principles, recognizes that probability and she is being extremely cautious in dealing with the so-called Chinese Reds.

Of course there is nothing that the Russians can possibly give the Chinese which they need, and that makes our own hand a strong one. And Russia realizes that Titoism is already a disease well established in China, perhaps the most dangerous disease which imperialist Soviet communism has to face.

Some of the do-gooders talk as if, overnight, it were possible, with the gesture of a fairy godmother, to bestow democracy upon the various peoples of the Far East.

They overlook completely the fact that democracy, especially in the form of a republic, is the most difficult of all forms of government to maintain since in order to operate, the citizenry affected must be literate, responsible and have reasonably high living standards based upon real wealth and natural resources.

* * *

Illiteracy Big Handicap.

THE theory that overnight freedom and democratic government can be bestowed upon these peoples, and that it will work, is simply preposterous.

The first thing which happens in countries where the illiteracy rate ranges from seventy-five to ninety-seven per cent is that the government falls into the hands of a racketeering minority.

This group sets up an absolute dictatorship because there is no such thing as intelligent opposition but only the intrigue or violence of one dictator of bureaucracy fighting and assassinating another.

In the whole of the vast Asiatic area, the only nation showing any signs of real progress is India. She is the natural leader of the area and the one who, in the long run, will inherit domination from the crumbling ruins of the English, French and Dutch Empires.

For her stability, India must forever be grateful to the British who, for all their stupidities, did teach the Indians what stable government is and how it works.

* * *

Potential Titos.

IT IS absurd to suppose that Russia through so-called Red parties could ever dominate or control or direct the Asiatic peoples. Every Red group in every Asiatic nation imitates Tito with a vast amount of racketeering instinct and experience thrown in.

Moreover, Russia has plenty of troubles at home, many of them arising from the illiteracy, low living standards and oppression which afflict the whole of Asia.

To talk of the overthrow of the Chiang government as a Russian victory is nonsense and no one knows it better than the shrewd, unscrupulous men in Moscow.

Before there can be any stable government in Asia (outside of India), the people will have to be fed and raised above the half-savage level of ignorance and illiteracy which today afflicts the whole of the area. We might move in with troops and warships in the good old Nineteenth Century fashion and take over governments, but obviously we are not going to do so.

Pouring money, either private capital or government funds, into such an area is just pouring so much money down the sewer. If we can help the peoples of the vast Asiatic area by technical knowledge and by selling them modern machinery and equipment, all well and good. Any other policy is bound to result in confusion, ruin and waste.

Assignment: America

It'll Be a Pleasure

By INEZ ROBB

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A Mr. Harry Truman has kindly helped me toward the realization of a life-long ambition. I have always hankered to be a guest at an American embassy on trips abroad, as I find commercial hotels so frightfully, frightfully commercial, meaning they expect to be paid. And now Mrs. Perle Mesta, newly appointed minister to Luxembourg, says she will not only put up with me but will put me up in the embassy if and when I come that way.

INEZ ROBB

Mrs. Mesta, whose open-handed hospitality has made her the social queen of Washington, intends to maintain the same open door policy in Luxembourg, she says.

"The embassy is a perfectly beautiful house, dear," trilled Mrs. M., the Oklahoma City girl who left the reservation to make good in New York, Newport and Washington, D. C.

"You mean you've seen the embassy already?" I asked.

Mrs. Mesta, taking a large swig of ice water, looked at me patiently and muttered something, I think, about never having purchased a pig in a poke in her life.

"It is a perfectly beautiful house on a cliff above Luxembourg. Looks like Indiana limestone," she volunteered, and in her mind's eye, I could see the new minister was already hanging up the Japanese lanterns, counting the folding chairs and taking inventory on the punch bowl.

Both Luxembourg and Mrs. Mesta are up to their respective Plimsoll lines in steel. The country of her new diplomatic post, Mrs. M. informed me, produces one-seventh of the world's steel output.

"Ten tons per annum per citizen," she said. "Bet you didn't know that before."

* * *

Regards It as Duty.

MRS. MESTA, a handsome, affable brunette, does not own all of Pittsburgh. That rumor is false. There are some outlying districts and a few suburban areas under other management. But Mrs. Mesta does own the Mesta Machine Works.

In addition to making money, the Mesta firm also makes steel machinery such as steel rolling mills and other large, costly addenda.

"I have been a widow for fifteen years," Mrs. Mesta said "and for fifteen years I have managed my own business and money, which is probably the reason I still have it all in the old sock. I know business, I now organization and I know steel."

The rest of the diplomatic business she is willing to learn. Mrs. Mesta hopes that the present staff in the Luxembourg embassy will stay put.

Lest the country worry about my deterioration in our affairs with Luxembourg, Mrs. Mesta takes her new post very seriously. She did not seek the appointment, she said gravely, and has accepted it only because she thinks women ought to be more active in world affairs when they have the chance.

"It would be a lot easier to stay in Washington, and I'd have a lot more fun," she added, "but I think this post is an advancement for women and I ought to accept it."

Some of Mr. Truman's recent appointees, notably Mon Wallgren, have run into confirmation cramps or senate trouble. But Mrs. Mesta is blithely confident she will not have any trouble with the senators, scarcely a one of whom is now alive but has enjoyed bounteous hospitality at the Mesta board.

BY THE TIME this reaches print we hope to be lolling in the shade on the shore of Chippewa lake, but we're not planning on it, you understand, because if we did there might not be any shade. There might not be any lake!

* * *

Every time we have carefully mapped an outdoor vacation with lots of sun and swimming, the weather has turned out to be a preview of November with cold, dripping skies and moaning winds. On the other hand, if we planned to catch up on some heavy reading like "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," why, the sun shone just dandy, the books never even got unpacked, and the only time anybody went indoors was to sleep.

* * *

So, no plans this time. The weather can do what it pleases. We'll take each day as it comes with never a gripe or a gloat. Well, not for the first fifteen minutes, anyhow.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Dr. Condon Writes Letter To FBI Chief

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the bureau of standards, whose wife was smeared in an FBI report made public in the Judith Coplon trial, has written J. Edgar Hoover a letter which may rank as one of the great human documents of the year. Dr. Condon had publicly demanded that Hoover apologize for the wrong done his wife, but in his later letter to Hoover he withdrew the demand for an apology, though continuing to press for a full investigation of the unchecked gossip. Dr. Condon's letter, so far unpublished, states:

PEARSON

"Dear Mr. Hoover:

"On Saturday and Sunday, angered and hurt by the unjust and unfair allusions to my wife contained in an 'unevaluated' FBI report which was made public in connection with a court trial last week, I issued statements to the press in which I demanded an apology from you.

"I would like to assure you that these statements grew solely out of the spontaneous anger natural to any man on seeing the name of his wife sullied in the press through official documents implying improper conduct through their distortion of an innocent and normal act. I believe that you can appreciate and sympathize with my reactions.

"It is apparent, however, that you could not reply to my statements because the injury is irreparable by any apology, because it would be impossible to remedy the sufferings that many have undergone, including myself, as a result of similar operations and because there is the possibility that any reply from you might be pertinent to a court matter. In the light of these, I regret any inconvenience that I may have caused you.

Urges Care and Caution.

"THE FACT that the present unfortunate events did take place does emphasize, it seems to me, the need for care and caution in connection with investigatory procedures. I have repeatedly pointed out the importance of proper investigations and proper security measures and, for example I have held again and again that the President's loyalty program is a splendid and excellent thing.

"But the care and caution which I mention are crucial if we are to attain the ends which we seek and, indeed, if we are not to jeopardize that very thing—our free and democratic country—which we value above all else.

"In this connection, I do not believe that the welfare of our nation is served when slanderous material about decent Americans becomes a part of official documents. It does no good to say that these documents are 'unevaluated' because they are, in fact, used as official reports, as they are in such matters as federal employment and loyalty cases where they are used as though the contents were truly factual and evaluated. . .

Mrs. Condon Never Queried.

"ARE you aware, with all the enormous amount of effort that has been spent on investigating Mrs. Condon and myself as a result of malicious and vindictively-motivated false alarms, that not once has one of your agents come around to see either Mrs. Condon or myself, either to interrogate us or to get straightened out on some point or other?

"And this is so in spite of the fact that I have repeatedly offered to cooperate fully with any fairly-conducted investigation. I know, as a matter of fact, that your files on Mrs. Condon and myself are shot through with errors with regard to easily ascertainable facts. We would be glad to go over all of this material with your agents in order to get it straight.

"Having never met you personally, I look forward to meeting you if you wish, and to discussing these or other matters which may be of mutual or general interest.

* * *

No Animus For Hoover.

"I WOULD like to assure you that I am writing you in a friendly and cooperative way, and I would like to confess that one of the reasons that I have addressed you so frankly and openly is the article entitled 'The Challenge,' which you wrote for the Sunday magazine section called 'This Week.'

"When I read this fine piece, beginning with the quotation from the Prophet Micah—What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?' — and ending with your sentences — 'these three simple phrases set up an indestructible guidepost for human conduct. In clear and simple words they establish the essentials of decency. All are of the spirit — justice, mercy, humility' —when I read these, moved by their profound truth and applicability in this troubled world, I felt that you would not mind a simple, frank and friendly letter discussing matters that weigh heavily on my heart, not merely in personal terms, though I am vulnerable enough like all mankind to feel anger and sorrow over unjustified aspersions, but in terms of that freedom and democracy which we cherish."

Note — It is not known outside the justice department, but it was either an ironic twist of fate or a deliberate trick by some FBI subordinate that put the Condon files into the Judith Coplon case. They had no relevance whatsoever, and were not in the files which the attorney general had read in advance.

However, when the stack of FBI reports turned up in court, the Condon report was strangely included among them. The FBI explanation given to higher-ups is that the Condon papers got stuck in a paper clip behind another report. Insiders can't help but consider it strange that one of the most efficient bureaus in Washington would let so secret and highly important a document get mislaid in such a way that it would turn up in court.

Viewing the National Scene

Back To Americanism

By THOMAS L. STOKES

LINCOLN, Neb. — It is a relief to get away for a time from the fetid and nauseous atmosphere of "un-American activities" in our national capital and out into the scene of American activities.

Away from the little men who are frantically taking a few spiders and trying to blow them up into dragons and waving them around hysterically in the effort to frighten the American people for their own purposes, whatever they may be—and they can't be wise or wholesome, that is certain.

The little men who stir around in their holes raking the muck finally have frightened themselves almost out of their wits.

But, luckily, they have not frightened the American people, the traveler discovers. The good, rich earth is still here. The country is still healthy and safe. The people are still unafraid.

It was good that President Truman finally spoke out about the hysteria that a few men in Congress in Washington have stirred up among themselves; that he referred back to the period of the alien and sedition laws suppressing free speech and free thought and free press, which those men are trying to recreate today with their bills in Congress.

It was good, too, that he pointed out how we had emerged, free and unafraid, from that other era and from a similar era after the First world war; and that he expressed confidence that this present madness among the little minds in Washington, which already has run too long, would pass too.

He knows it will pass, for he knows the people, the people who live out in this broad and beautiful land from which he comes. It is, in fact, already passing out here, if it ever amounted to much.

Already, the wandering reporter learns, they have grown weary of the spy hunting and the lurid spectacle staged in Washington. They ignore it. Most people seem to pay little attention to it any longer in their newspapers, and the voices over the radio briefing the day's developments in spy hunts and trials back east seem to come, vaguely, from some foreign land where a police state is operating.

The innate good sense of our people, which has kept us free and great, has dismissed it, finally, as the too often cry of "wolf."

* * *

The Broader Vision.

THIS is reflected in the newspapers out this way. They publish the stories out of Washington and New York, of course, as part of the day's news, but give them space and position in proportion to their importance in relation to other news.

To read the newspapers out here is a striking contrast to reading them in the East, where the great, scary headlines jump out at you from the front pages.

Here the stories are not always on the front page, and are cut down to the essential facts, and do not run along forever as they do in eastern newspapers.

And what might be called the country editor common sense that is still found out here where it is possible to get perspective speaks out in occasional salty and sensible editorials, suggesting amiably that we do not lose our balance and not persecute innocent people contrary to our traditions. The attitude is altogether wholesome and refreshing.

Nor do people talk about the spy-hunting and communists as they do in the extreme east.

Of course, communists are rather rare out this way, if they are not much rarer also everywhere — and certainly less dangerous — than some of the frightened loudmouths would have you believe.

People out this way are busy living — in the American fashion.

Never has the country looked greener or finer. Once again, as always, it is inspiring to the eastern traveler to roll across Illinois and Iowa and Nebraska and see the tender new corn, knee-nigh now, reflecting the sun from its sheeny stalks, and the fat, placid cattle looking as if they grew out of the land, and the neat, clean farm houses among the trees, and the bigger barns to signify the relative importance of things in this granary of America, and three boys and a dog crossing a field toward the brook. The country is in shirt sleeves and over-alls, building America.

It is, indeed, a lovely land.

It would do some of the fearful, ingrown, near-sighted and frantic members of Congress good to come out this way and take a look at American activities.

When Birds Sing

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

The choral music of the birds
Makes early summer rich in sound.
The many songsters have no words,
But their expression is profound
Sometimes, and gay enough to bring Us joy in creatures who can sing.

The voices of some birds are fine,
While others have a raucous note;
But all together, they combine
To make sweet music, as they float
Upon the air. We hear them ring,
And know the main thing is to sing!

Hill Owner Gets Sand Analyzed

By BILL HERRING
News-Journal State Editor.

LUCAS—A sand hill near here is a mecca for Lucas youngsters and may prove an asset to its owner Analysis of tests of the fine sand show it is ideal for contruction work Pockets of sandstone found on the hill, when mixed with water make a paint good for woodworking

The farm house of William J. Sauder, slightly over a mile from here on the Lucas-Little Washington road, was built into the sand hill. All three floors — basement and two floors—have doorways off the sandy incline. The entire 40 acres of the Sauder place is on the sand hill.

The depth of the sand never has been determined but the hill stands 150 feet above the roadway and covers a wide area A sod covering hides the sand and only near the summit have excavations been made for tests This place attracts children from this community—and the Sauders have 12 grandchildren who lead the parade to their own playground

* * *

Samples have been forwarded to Columbus for analysis In addition to the fine sand being termed ideal for mason work it also is rated good for use in foundries, Sauders has been informed

The sand hill strata finds layers of stone and clay in with the fine sand The sand is moist when dug up and when water is added to the sandstone chunks a colorful paint is acquired This natural paint, in red and tan colors, has been found good for wood working use.

Sauder is employed at the Westinghouse plant in Mansfield in its press room He has worked there for more than 19 years and purchased the sand hill farm 15 years ago He added two floors to the original house and does general farming on the place

* * *

A soft water spring, on the hill side near the house offers Mrs Sauder water suitable for laundry work and provides cool drinking water in hot summer months

The Sauders have five sons and five daughters. Four of the sons still live at home—Elmer, Richard, Kenneth and Donald, while Robert lives on Mansfield, R. D 4. The daughters are Mrs. Ruth Layend of Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Mrs. Elias Manz of Paulding, O.; Mrs. Marie Folk, Mrs. Frank Grazel and Mrs. Gabriel Dolce, all of Mansfield. The Sauders have 12 grandchildren.

HOUSE BUILT INTO SAND HILL—Doorways from any of the three floors of the William J Sauder farm house on Lucas R. D 1, open onto a hill of fine sand A sod covering hides the sand with the hill towering 150 feet above the Lucas-Little Washington roadway at the rear of the house Tests have shown the fine sand good for construction and foundry work

Elmer, a building contractor, was instrumental in having the fine sand analyzed at Columbus He was the only Sauder son to serve in the armed forces during Word War II. He was a sergeant in the Army's Fifth Auxiliary Surgical Group in Germany and served 32 months

The crest of the sand hill is approximately 400 feet from the house None of the sand has reached the commercial market but Sauder is optimistic after studying the reports received from Columbus

A year ago April a cyclone levelled the barn on the Sauder place

Loudonville Phone Rate Hike Asked

Firm Files Request With Ohio PUC

LOUDONVILLE — The Northern Ohio Telephone company made a formal request last week to the Public Utilities commission of Ohio for a rate increase of 25 to 50 cents a month for local residents.

The proposal is to increase all party line resident phones to $2.50. This makes a 25 cent increase for desk phones and 50 cents for wall phones. The proposed increase for private line subscribers is $1.00 per month for desk phones and $1.-25 for wall phones.

It is proposed that private line business phones be increased $2.25 per month for desk service and 25 cents per month for wall service. Party line business phones to 1.25 and 1.50. Under the proposed new rate all desk phones will be at the same rates as all wall phones.

The proposed rates are based on present service, but the company plans to install automatic dial phones and equipment as soon as necessary equipment can be installed. The company, in a letter to the village clerk, stated that they hoped when the automatic dial system is available, a further increase in rates will not be necessary.

Present rates will continue in effect until Public Utilities Engineers have made a detailed inspection of the present rates. It is estimated it may require several months. Local rates now in effect were established in 1926. Since that time the company pointed out that operating costs have increased 164.9 per cent.

The company will submit to the PUC an earnings statement of the Star Telephone company, former owners of the local franchise, for the year of 1948. The Northern Ohio Telephone company's present owners claim the present rate of return on the value of the property has declined to approximately two percent for the past year.

Loudonville Spurs Waterworks Plan

LOUDONVILLE The second step in the village waterworks program of improvement has been completed with Charles Lavengood accepting the position of resident engineer for supervision of the construction. Lavengood will jointly represent the Burgess and Nipple engineering firm of Columbus, and the trustees of the local board of public affairs.

The improvement project is expected to get started about the first of July. The DeLucca construction firm of Akron will be on the job as soon as possible.

Work of providing temporary shelters over the well pits and changing of some gauges will be the first step with the present water works building being torn down. Soon after that excavation for the new building foundation for the new water work will begin.

$300,000 Movie House Getting Finishing Touches

Galion Theater Opens July 7

By CATHERINE RORICK
(N-J State Correspondent)

GALION—Galion's new $300,000 theater, The Galion, will open July 7, it was announced yesterday. Last-minute finishing touches are being given the new entertainment palace. It will seat 1,200 persons as compared with the 650 seating capacity of The State which until now was Galion's largest show house.

Outstanding features of the new theater are the exotic colors used in the interior decorating, the air-cooling and heating systems, and the arrangements of the seating and stage.

The Galion Theater company, owners of the new theater, as well as the State theater, spent $30,000 alone for the equipment which will cool the theater by refrigeration.

The front of the theater is porcelain enamel on metal with a field of gray-green as the predominant color. It has a black base and an orange stripe through the design.

Patrons will enter the show house through three large double doors. Walls of the lobby are marbelized, and the terraza flooring is done in rich maroon colors. To the right, inside the lobby, is located an air-conditioned box office, a tiled concession room, and the manager's office in addition to a storage room.

Most colorful are the interior decorations which have been in charge of Rex M. Davis, Chicago specialist in theater decorations who works with the Hans Teichert company of Chicago. An artist, Frank Lackner of Chicago, who is working with Davis, did the murals of the auditorium. They are unusual. Lackner is one of the country's three outstanding artists in mural decorations.

The auditorium has a turquoise and deep green ceiling with three large dome lights in the ceiling to provide indirect illumination. The chairs are extra wide, and covered with coral plush and leather. They are all on one floor in stadium-type arrangement, and at proper elevation to assure near-perfect vision for everyone in the audience. An attractive carpeting is being placed down the aisles and in the foyer.

Green and gold draperies are used at the stage which is 25 feet deep from the floodlights to back, and 40 feet wide. This will make it suitable for stage productions as well as motion pictures.

Flamingo and French gray are the predominating colors of the women's lounge and powder room at the rear of the foyer which also boasts of a public telephone. The men's room and vestibule smoking room is located upstairs. There are also an ushers' quarters and letter room for the marquee near the fireproof projection room. The latter has facilities for two projectors and spotlights, 155 feet from the screen.

The new theater which is located in the first block west of public square, south side of the street, was started last mid-July by the Vogel Building company of Wellsville, general contractors. The lots for the location were purchased from Mrs. George Chyba. With the wrecking of the old buildings on the lots, the new theater replaces landmarks on Galion's main street.

Henry Flickensher, manager, and Charles Alcorn, assistant manager of the new Galion and the State theaters, feel that the new entertainment house is a definite contribution to the community's progress, and the last word in theaters.

The first show will be a Hollywood "sneak" prevue, the managers said. It will be a picture which has never been shown before, and because it is a "sneak" prevue, the title will not be announced.

MRS. WARREN H. PLOHR —Photo by Smucker Studio

Miss Joan Louise Perl Wed To H. W. Plohr

MISS JOAN LOUISE PERL was one of the loveliest brides of the season Saturday when she was married to Henry Warren Plohr at St. Peter's Catholic church parish house. Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiated for the simple impressive ceremony which was witnessed by the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. August Robert Perl, 376 Park avenue west. Mr. Plohr is the son of Mrs. Henry William Plohr of Mt. Lebanon, Pa.

Miss Perl was given in marriage by her brother, Frederick Walter Perl. She was attired in a beautiful gown of light ivory Skinner's satin, trimmed with imported Chantilly lace. The gown was fashioned with a wide open neckline which was finished with a band of satin, edged in lace. The lace was repeated in another wide band at her waistline and up through the bodice of her gown. A cascade of wide lace and a band of satin fell from the front of the gown, forming a panel effect into the sides of the skirt, extending the full length of the gown.

She wore detachable mitts of Chantilly lace which came above her elbows. The same lace was used in her little open crown headpiece which was edged in pearls and held her full French silk illusion fingertip veil.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Frederick Walter Perl, her sister-in-law, who served as matron of honor, and Mrs. William Geyer of Santa Monica, Calif., a close friend, who served as bridesmaid. The attendants were attired in like-styled gowns of summer pink, fashioned with wide open necklines edged in full ruffles over the shoulders. The skirts were styled with three tiers of ruffles and worn over hoops. The gowns were made of starched marquisette. Little mitts completed their costumes.

Worn with the gowns were large picture hats of hairbraid in the same summer pink. They were trimmed with an assortment of June flowers.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade arrangement of roses and shattered carnations, centered with a white Camhamiana orchid. The attendants carried small hairbraid baskets in pink with arrangements of June garden flowers.

Serving as best man was Roger Perl, a friend of the bridegroom. The ushers were Richard Saxton of Cleveland, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, and Burt Taylor of Cleveland.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Perl chose a pearl grey sheer street length dress fashioned with a draped side. Her accessories were shell pink. She wore a corsage of Camhamiana orchids. Mrs. Plohr wore an aquamarine crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony a breakfast for twenty-five guests was served at the Westbrook Country Club. The breakfast table was decorated with pastel flowers and huckle berry. Centering the U-shaped table was the wedding cake.

FIVE SISTERS ENTER NURSING CAREERS

MRS. W. J. BOLIN

MRS. D. J. GETTINGS

BETTY LOU JACOBS

JOAN JACOBS

RUTH JACOBS

By ANN SCHOENMAN

Five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Jacobs step into the limelight in the community of New Washington for their interest in nursing. It wasn't just a coincidence that these young women would enter nurses' training. The family says it was planned that way.

On June 27 the youngest daughter, Ruth, or "Bobbie," as she's called by her friends, will begin her career in the nursing field at Mercy hospital in Toledo. Her four sisters, Mary Jane, Betty Lou, Margaret and Joan, have all received their graduate nurses' stripes from Mercy.

These young girls became interested in nursing when their three aunts, Mrs. William McNutt, Mrs. Don Wilson and the late Mrs. George Covington, who are sisters, used to tell them about their experiences in this profession.

During the war, two of the girls were enlisted as cadet nurses, and Jane served two years in the Army Nurse Corps.

Mary Jane, who is now Mrs. Daniel J. Gettings, graduated from Mercy school, May 1944, and it was then she entered the Nurse Corps. She is now employed at the Lakewood hospital, Lakewood, specializing in surgery.

In May of 1945, the Jacobs' second daughter, Betty Lou, graduated. She finished her six months as an Army Nurse Cadet at Seattle, Washington. Betty Lou is employed at the Lakeside hospital in Cleveland.

The second daughter to be wed is Margaret. She is Mrs. William Jacob Bolin, who received her diploma from Mercy in 1947. During her three years training, she also was a Nurse Cadet. Margaret has chosen a doctor's office in which to put to work her experience. She is with Dr. William Shapello of Cleveland.

Joan, who is still with Mercy, graduated May 1949. She is supervisor of the central dressing room at the hospital. When Joan comes of age, she will take her state test. The age requirement is twenty-one.

"Although my daughters have never received any unusual honors, they've all had good grades, being honor students and I am quite proud of them and the profession they have chosen," commented Mrs. Jacob.

"Bobbie" received her diploma from New Washington high school at their commencement exercises held this spring. Bobbie's mother hopes that after her graduation from the hospital she will continue her studying and concentrate on one branch of the profession.

"Some may think we're in a rut," stated Bobbie, "but you have to agree that today there isn't a better 'rut' to be in."

These five girls from New Washington are helping to relieve the serious shortage of nurses which exists today.

Other out-of-town guests in attendance were from Galion, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan; Shelby, Loudonville, Hayward, California, and Brazil South America.

The members voted to send $50 to the Wooster Alumni fund. The business session was conducted by the president, Robert Ricksicker.

Miss Ruth Toms Changes Name To Mrs. Barry M. Cowen

PERRYSVILLE — In a formal open church ceremony, June 12, Miss Ruth Toms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Toms, and Barry M. Cowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Cowen, exchanged marriage vows at the Methodist church.

Rev. Donald Adams performed the double ring ceremony. Preceding the service, a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Pauline Darling, organist, and Miss Susie Roller, of Loudonville, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in an ivory bridal satin gown, fashioned with a wide open neckline, outlined with a ruffle of Chantilly lace, in an Elizabethan style. The gown had long tight sleeves, with a row of small satin buttons, ending in points over the bride's wrists. Her skirt was full and fell into wide folds ending in a long train. Her double fingertip illusion veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms.

She carried a white Bible topped with rosebuds and lilies of the valley, tied with a cascade of satin streamers. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and her grandmother's earrings.

Miss Grace Toms, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of blush pink frosted marquisette over satin. She carried a colonial arrangement of aqua carnations tied with a deep pink ribbon. She wore an aqua flower bandeau in her hair.

Mrs. Edward Toms and Mrs. Robert Toms, sisters-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids. Both wore gowns of aqua colored frosted marquisette over satin. They carried colonial arrangements similar to the maid of honor's, of pink carnations and aqua ribbons. In their hair they wore pink flower bandeaus. Their gowns were fashioned with V necklines and short cap sleeves, edged with tiny ruffles. Ruffles trimmed the hipline of the wide bouffant skirts.

Herbert Fox, the bridegroom's cousin, served as best man. The ushers were Robert Lozier and Leo Zody, classmates of the bridegroom. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Toms chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of pale blue bemberg with white accessories. Mrs. Cowen wore an aqua sheer crepe dress with toast and white accessories. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

Mrs. Robert McKee, the bride's grandmother, was attired in an orchid crepe gown with white accessories and a carnation corsage. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother, Robert Toms.

An imported hand embroidered linen and lace cloth covered the bride's table, which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a wedding bell and miniature bride and bridegroom. One hundred and fifty guests were present for the reception.

Mrs. Harry Weitthoff, Mrs. Willis Cramer, Mrs. William Hartshorne, all of Loudonville, and Miss Winifred Sheller, of Salem, served as hostesses.

For her wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a two-piece white eyelet dress with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of roses.

The couple both graduated from Perrysville high school. The bride is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and is employed at the Farmers Savings bank at Loudonville. The bridegroom is associated with his father in farming. The couple will reside temporarily in a house on the bridegroom's father's farm until their new home is completed.

Miss Phyllis Eckstein Wed To Ronald Eugene Fiege

GALION — Misty off - white sheer fashioned the bridal gown of Miss Phyllis JoAnn Eckstein. The material was brought from Switzerland nearly 30 years ago by the bride's great aunt, the late Bird Smith.

Miss Eckstein became the bride of Ronald Eugene Fiege, son of Mrs. Bertha Fiege of Cincinnati, in a pretty garden wedding at the Eckstein home. 349 Harding Way West, at 5:15 o'clock June 19.

The skirt of the bridal gown was very full, and was hand embroidered in cream - colored flowerettes with pale green leaves. The embroidery was more pronounced near the hemline. A border of the embroidery was used around the plain sheer strapless bodice, and also down the front of the eton jacket and to finish the three - quarter length sleeves. A Dutch collar finished the jacket. The gown was worn over taffeta.

A Mary Queen of - Scots cap of the embroidery held the veil of the sheer material to match the gown. Yellow roses, deep blue delphinium and baby's breath were used in the bridal bouquet.

Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, jr., pastor of First Lutheran church, read the double ring service in a garden nook under a flower-decorated arch which had been placed under a pear tree. A satin kneeling bench was placed before the arch on either side of which were beauty baskets of flowers. Baskets of flowers also flanked the east side of the garden.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Fred Eusey of Galon, the bride and her attendants entered the garden down a walk from the home which was marked by standards holding heavy white silk cords and tassels.

The musicians, Charles Beegle, violinist, and Elwood Christman, tenor, stood behind the shrubbery in order to give their music a drifting - away effect.

Richard Fiege of Cincinnati, brother of the bridegroom, Michael Eckstein of New York City, brother of the bride, and Gordon Eusy of Mansfield, uncle of the bride, were ushers.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Patricia Eckstein wore a lavendar organdy gown. Mrs. Bruce Robinson (formerly Lois Fiege) of Columbus, sister of the bridegroom, who was the bride's college roommate, was the bridesmaid. She had a gown of light blue organdy. Both attendants carried baskets of garden flowers. They wore short mitts, and had visor - type caps to match their gowns.

Bruce Robinson was best man for his brother - in - law.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home.

MRS. R. E. FIEGE

Mrs. Michael Eckstein, Mrs. Fred Eusey and Mrs. Gordon Eusey, assisted in serving. A four - tiered wedding cake was topped with deep purple pansies. The bride's mother was attired in a gray embroidered dress with white accessories, while Mrs. Fiege was in a lilac print. The mothers wore gardenia corsages.

After several days the couple will leave for Laramie, Wyoming, where the bridegroom will continue his studies, and the bride will complete some graduate work.

The former Miss Eckstein is the daughter of Mrs. Wilbert R. Eckstein and the late Mr. Eckstein of Galion. She was graduated from Galion High school, and received her B. A. degree at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio. She took graduate work at the University of California at Berkeley, and taught high school at Sutter, California, for two years. She is affiliated with Alpha Kappa Delta and Psi Chi, honorary sociology and psychology fraternities.

Mr. Fiege was graduated from Goshen, Ohio, high school. He attended Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh while he was in the A. S. T. P. Before going to the University of Wyoming, he attended Wilmington College in Ohio. He served with the infantry in the European theatre of World War II. For a year he taught school in Idaho. He is majoring in English.

The couple plan to locate in the northwestern United States when they complete their college work.

Miss Deitrich Becomes Bride Of Mr. Travis

MILLERSBURG — Established in their home in Harlan, Ind. are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur G. Travis whose wedding took place in the Millersburg Church of Christ June 10 at four thirty o'clock.

The bride, before her marriage was Miss JoAnne Deitrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deitrich, Walkup street. The groom, a native of Indiana, is now an ordained minister with a charge at the Harlan, Ind. Church of Christ.

Rev. Ira E. Brandon of Holmesville, a college friend of the couple, officiated for a double ring ceremony with open church observance. Two large urns of white baby poms with white candles in two seven-branch candelbra on either side, formed the setting for the event.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a white satin gown fashioned with a round net yoke edged with seed pearls. The tight fitting bodice buttoned down the back, ending in a point where joined to the waist. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands. The gown had a long train while a fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. In her hands she carried a white Bible topped with white roses and stephanotis tied with satin ribbon which fell in streamers knotted with stephanotis.

Her three attendants were Miss Thelma Fisher of Fredericktown, Miss Norma Jean Hagan of Brinkhaven and Miss Dolores Weller of Fredericktown, all college friends of the bride at Cincinnatti Bible seminary. Their gowns were all of same design and were in lime green and peach color marquisette, similar to the bride's in design, in that they had net yokes and fitted bodices. They differed with full hoop skirts and ruffles rounding the yoke of the sleeves. The two carried arm bouquets of poms, roses, carnations and Marconi asters in shades of yellow and the peach gown was contrasted with an arm bouquet of varying shades of pink with flowers of similar type. Around each of their heads were halos of sweetpeas.

Miss Patty Ann Frank, a cousin of the bride, dressed in a floor length yellow organdy and wearing a wrist corsage of sweetpeas, acted as flower girl.

Richard Travis of Chestnut Hill, Ill. served his brother as best man. Ushers were Floyd Jones of Glenmont and Delno Engle of Millersburg.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the dining room of the church for a hundred guests.

The bride's attendants served. The long bridal table was centered with a three - tiered wedding cake topped with two love birds holding wedding rings. A garland of pink and white rosebuds encircled the cake while on either side were candles burning in crystal holders. At either end of the table were matching candleholders of glass with burning candles. Large bouquets of roses intervened.

After the reception the immediate families and close friends were served a buffet supper at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was graduated from Millersburg high school and for the past two years has been attending the Cincinnati Bible Seminary. The groom, who is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Travis of Havana, Ill. was a graduate of the high school there in 1946, studied at Cincinnati Bible Seminary for two years and attended Minnesota Bible school, recently graduating. Sunday following the wedding, he was ordained into the ministry of the Church of Christ in Havanna, Ill.

Perl-Plohr Wedding Rite

From 2 to 4 p. m. the reception was held, also at the Country Club. One hundred guests attended. They were received near the mantel of the drawing room. The screening of the fireplace was decorated with fern and huckleberry. On either side were beauty baskets of white peonies. The club room was decorated with vases of lovely pastel flowers.

Guests were served buffet style from a table set with crystal candelabra and arrangements of white flowers. Huckleberry and garlands of smilax were used to drape the banquet cloth. A many-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the table. The Misses Helen and Ann Focke, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Focke of Dayton presided at the punch bowl. Miss Doris Plohr, the bridegroom's sister, served the wedding cake. A program of nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Frederick Walter, violinist, and Mrs. Richard Wolford, who presided at the console organ.

When the newlyweds left for a motor trip to Georgian Bay and New York, the bride wore an oyster white gabardine suit with brown accessories. She carried a white topper. After July 15 they will be at home at 2252 Northland avenue, Lakewood.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's Academy and Carnegie Institute of Technology, where she received her degree in costume designing. She was affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority The bridegroom graduated from Carnegie Institute of Technology, with an aeronautical engineering degree. He was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

He served three years as a pilot with the Air Force, overseas, where he attained the rank of First Lieutenant. He is employed as an Aeronautical Research Scientist at the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Cleveland.

Out-of-town guests were present from Pittsburgh, Dayton, Delaware, O., Chicago, Detroit, and Santa Monica, Calif.

Miss Perl has been feted by many friends with parties during the last few months. Miss Carolyn Walter gave an announcement tea at her home. Mrs. Frederick Perl, sister-in-law of the bride, gave a dessert bridge and kitchen shower.

Mrs. Leo Perl entertained twenty-two guests with a picnic and pantry shower. Paul Berno gave a cocktail party and buffet supper for thirty guests, June 18. Mrs. William Geyer feted the bride with a spinster dinner at the Westbrook Country Club Thursday evening. Mrs. Walter Perl honored the bride with a rehearsal party for her attendants Friday evening.

Miss Steiner John Wigton Exchange Vows

LOUDONVILLE — Miss Helen Eileen Steiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Steiner of Greer and John L. Wigton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wigton of Shreve, were married June 10 at Zion Lutheran Church in Loudonville. Rev. H. T. Grabau performed the double ring ceremony, at 2 p. m. in the presence of the immediate families.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and candelabra and Mrs. H. T. Grabau presided at the organ. The bride wore a dressmaker suit of white sharkskin and a white picture hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Mrs. Oral Hall of Loudonville was matron of honor. She wore a gold suit with brown accessories, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and gold pompons.

Oral Hall, served Mr. Wigton as best man. A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony. For her wedding trip the bride wore a blue French crepe gown with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Mrs. Wigton is a graduate of the Danville High School with the class of 1944 and has been employed in Shreve for the past two years. Mr. Wigton graduated from Shreve High school and is employed in the office of the Akron Brass Company of Wooster. The couple will reside in their newly furnished home on South Street in Shreve.

MRS. HAROLD E. CLAWSON

Former Mansfield Man Weds Mt. Vernon Girl June 19

Of interest in Mansfield is the announcement of the wedding of Miss Harriett Elizabeth Pharis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeVere Pharis of Mt. Vernon, and Harold Edward Clawson, of Mt. Vernon, formerly of Mansfield. The couple was wed on the bride's birthday anniversary on June 19 at the First Presbyterian church in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Clawson, who was formerly employed as sports editor for the Mansfield News-Journal, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward A. Clawson of Ashland.

The couple repeated their marriage vows after the Rev. Benjamin Judd, jr., before the altar which was lighted with tapers in four seven-branched candelabra and banked with palms and baskets of all-white gladioli and lilies. Baskets of summer flowers were used decoratively in the back of the church.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was gowned in candlelight satin, fashioned with a sheer yoke of marquisette, out - lined with deep lace, long-fitted sleeves and an extremely full skirt, accentuated with a back satin panel, edged with wide lace, and extending into a cathedral train.

Her knee-length veil of illusion was caught to a brim of seed pearls and was bordered with lace. She carried white rosebuds, baby's breath and white carnations centered with a single white orchid, later removed and worn on her going-away attire.

The bride was preceded to the altar by the matron of honor, Mrs. Burton Scurfield of Philadelphia, a sister, the maid of honor, Miss Catherine Pharis, another sister, and Miss Joan Timanus of Mansfield as bridesmaid, a cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Scurfield wore a gown of blush pink embroidered organdie and Miss Pharis and Miss Timanus were in lemon yellow embroidered organdie.

The attendants' gowns were alike in design and featured cap sleeves, bouffant skirts and high rounding necklines. Tiny buttons closed the slim fitting bodices. Each carried roses and carnations and all wore Juliet caps of embroidered organdie matching their dresses.

Little Luli Pharis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Pharis of Newark, cousin of the birde, as flower girl, was dressed in a dainty frock of white dotted Swiss over pink, with a pink velvet sash.

The bridegroom had as best man his brother, Ronald Clawson of Ashland, and ushering were Messrs. Ward A. Clawson, jr., of Ashland, another brother of the bridegroom, Joseph Baum Wilbur Hespenheide, both of Columbus, and Floyd Heft of Mount Vernon.

The church parlors, the setting for the reception, was decorated with baskets of mixed summer flowers and centering the tea table lighted with white tapers in branched silver candelabra, was an arrangement of sweetpeas and roses.

For her wedding trip through the northeast the new Mrs. Clawson chose a gray plaid suit and navy accessories.

The bride was graduated from the Mount Vernon high school and until recently was employed in the office of the Shellmar Products corporation.

Mr. Clawson, a graduate of Ashland high school, attended Ashland college and Ohio State university. He is a member of the editorial staff of the Mount Vernon News.

The couple will reside at 402 E. Vine street for the summer.

Mansfield Home Owner Seeks Funds to Pay Off Mortgage

A Mansfield home owner asked recently, "Isn't there some way I can insure continuance of my mortgage payments after I'm no longer here?"

Then he further explained, "I want my family to keep living in our home, but I don't want the mortgage to be entirely paid off at my death. I'd prefer to have my family get $65 a month for, say, five years. Then my wife could at least keep the home until Steve and Lois finish Mansfield High. Can that be arranged?"

I assured him at once not only that it could be done, but also that the Phoenix Mutual much preferred to work out his Home Protection Plan in whatever manner he felt would best meet his needs.

So here you have a simple and direct answer to one of the most troublesome worries that home owners have. Other answers are to be found in our pamphlet, "How To Keep Your Home In The Family." It's free. Send for it today.

Congress to Lift Lid on B-36, Supercarrier Arguments

'Ugly Rumors' Stir Committee To Action

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Prodded by reports by Rep. Van Zandt (R.-Pa.) that he had heard "ugly rumors" about the B-36 bomber and the circumstances under which the Air Force adopted it, the House Armed Services committee voted to investigate.

A few days later it decided to widen its investigation to cover other aspects of America's defense, notably the 65,000-ton aircraft carrier on which work had been begun, then abrutly stopped.

Both projects involve many, many millions of dollars, but aside from the cost is the question of how official decisions on them may affect the security of the United States. Here two Associated Press reporters discuss the essentials of the two cases.

(B-36)

B-36 is under a dark cloud.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) has recited to the House "ugly rumors and reports" about the giant bomber itself and some of the men in the air force responsible for it.

Congress has given the House armed services committee $50,000 to dig into the gossip. Preliminary investigation has begun, and public hearings will follow soon.

Van Zandt did not vouch for the rumors but said they should be examined. He asked whether the B-36 program was cut back sharply, and then restored and expanded after the 1948 election . . . Whether Democratic campaign contributions and activities figured in such decisions . . . Whether Air Force Secretary Symington planned to head a big aircraft combine to be set up by Floyd Odlum, who controls the company that builds B-36s . . . Whether military experts were at one time ready to forget this 330,000-pound bomber.

Symington called these questions "innuendoes" and denied them item by item. He said the report about his heading a combine "is a lie."

Hundreds of millions of defense dollars already are in the B-36 project. Hundreds of millions more have been allocated to it. The job of strategic attack for which it is intended ranks high in military planning.

The B-36 is the largest warplane ever built. Its wings span 230 feet, and it is 163 feet from tip to tail. Each of its eight turrets mounts a pair of 20-millimeter (4-5-inch) cannon operated in a coordinated system. Its four great bomb bays can handle, without modification, every present type of aerial bomb — atom, block buster or fire. It has flown with 34,000 pounds of bombs in its belly.

Its six piston engines, in the after edge of the wing, have a total 21,000 horsepower. Four jet engines are being added to almost double that push. The plane's design gross weight is 278,000 pounds, but it is intended to fly at 330,000 pounds or more.

Thus far the B-36 has operated from a single field — Carswell airbase — which adjoins the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. Factory at Fort Worth, Tex., where the bomber is built.

PERFORMANCE GOOD

The big bomber has flown practice missions up to 9,600 miles. It has flown lesser distances at altitudes above 40,000 feet. It has flown a mission at an average speed of over 300 miles.

Air force officials have said privately the bomber is virtually untouchable by present day fighters when flying at peak altitude. Its vulnerability to ground fire would be reduced at such heights.

(Carrier)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A House committee decision to reopen the question of building a supersize aircraft carrier has sparked a glimmer of hope in naval aviation's darkest hour.

For two months — since Defense Secretary Johnson bluntly ordered construction on the 65,000 - ton carrier United States to be abandoned — morale of navy airmen, and indeed of the entire sea service, has been at its lowest ebb since the first biplane took off the primitive old carrier Langley two decades ago.

The navy found heartening this clause of an armed services committee resolution to investigate the whole broad subject of air power and strategy, the air force's B-36 bomber and the navy's sidetracked supercarrier:

"Examine the roles and missions of the air force and the navy (especially navy aviation and marine aviation) to determine whether or not the decision to cancel the construction of the aircraft carrier United States was sound."

Johnson had taken over the defense chief's post a month earlier with the avowed intention of stopping inter-service quarreling and knocking a few heads together if necessary to produce harmony. On April 23 he sent to the navy secretary's office a memorandum saying:

"With further reference to the proposed aircraft carrier United States, I have now received the views of the chiefs of staff and, after careful consideration and discussion of the matter with the President, I have reached the conclusion that appropriate orders should be issued discontinuing the construction of the vessel. Accordingly, you will issue such orders as may be required under the circumstances in order that construction may be discontinued at once and at the least possible cost to the government."

NAVY SHOCKED

The navy was shocked, startled and angry. But the only official reaction came from the then secretary, John L. Sullivan.

Johnson's order arrived at noon on Saturday, when Sullivan was out of the city. On the following Tuesday Sullivan sent a brief formal note of resignation to President Truman — and a long and sharply worded note to Johnson.

He accused Johnson of taking the abrupt action after assuring him the matter was still under consideration. And he deplored this "unprecedented action on the part of a secretary of defense in so drastically and arbitrarily changing and restricting the operational plans of an armed service without consultation with that service."

He said the consequences of such procedure could be "far-reaching and tragic" and that professional naval men believed construction of the big carrier was "indispensable to the continuing development of American sea power."

In the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company near the Norfold, Va., naval base, riveters' hammers suddenly ceased clamoring up from the keel of "CVA 58", laid without ceremony a week earlier.

There lay the backbone of what had been intended as the world's biggest warship. The blueprints stuffed away after Johnson's order called for a ship with a flight deck 1,090 feet long and 190 feet wide, without the conventional "island" on the starboard side — a "flush deck" carrier.

Her flight deck was to be much stronger than even the tough steel decks of the 45,000-ton Midway class, her elevators bigger to handle bigger planes, hangar deck more spacious to allow handling of the larger, higher-tailed bombers and jet fighters now coming into use by the navy. The rate at which she could launch, land and stow away returning planes would have been far faster than for any existing carrier.

Officially, the navy has not said it intended to use the giant carrier for a strategic bombing base, except for the "collateral function" of assisting the air force in the latter's "primary" function of strategic bombing.

But navy friends and some navy men, speaking as individuals, contend there certainly is no reason why the navy shouldn't engage in strategic bombing.

Mansfield Legion Juniors Win First In Tourney

Indians Tumble Back Into Second Division

Shelby Team Is Beaten

PLYMOUTH — Unleashing a powerful 14-hit attack, the Mansfield American Legion Junior baseball team opened defense of its Richland county championship here yesterday by blasting Shelby out of the undefeated ranks, 12 to 2.

The Mansfield team plays its second encounter in the double-elimination tournament against Plymouth here today at 12:30 p.m. Loser of the Mansfield-Plymouth contest meets Shelby in the second game of the twin bill at 3:30. Manager Dewey Durant of the Mansfield aggregation will pitch Gene Yohn or Jack Howell against Plymouth.

WILDNESS HURTS

Wildness bothered Pitcher Dave Hardy more yesterday than the Shelby batters. Hardy doled out only five hits but walked six men. Two of the walks resulted in the two Shelby runs. He struck out eight.

Second-sacker DeVito drew a pass in the third frame and pilfered second. Singles by McHugh and Fackler plated the first run. Then in the fifth, DeVito strolled again. However, he was forced at second by Wetz and McHugh followed with a single. An error allowed the run to score.

Two Shelby pitchers were unable to preserve the three-game Shelby winning streak. Wildness hastened the downfall of Wetz in the second inning and Swanger finished.

Jim Reiner opened the contest with a single, Tom Tucker walked and Ken McCally punched home two runs with a long triple. In the second frame, Hardy singled and Reiner and Tucker drew passes. Jake Schmidt singled home two runs and Wetz retired.

Walkitis also bothered Sanger. He gave Bob Hartnett and "Sleepy" Price free tickets in the third and Reiner scored one run with a single.

The Mansfield team counted in every inning except the sixth to win its third victory in five starts. Reiner was the hitting star with four singles in four official trips to the platter.

Mansfield also gave Shelby a tough time on the base paths. Reiner and Schmidt each stole three as Mansfield pilfered a total of 10 sacks.

Watts Signs Pact With Dallas Nine; Plus Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

SPARKIE WATTS, the Senior high baseball star, has made a couple of fast moves in the past few weeks. . . . First his family moved to Dallas, Texas just a couple of days after the '49ers graduated out at Tyger school. . . . Then Sparkie became the first member of the 1949 Senior high team to sign a professional baseball contract. . . . He quickly grabbed a workout with the Dallas Eagles of the fast Texas league and signed a contract just this week for the fine opening salary of $250 a month. . . . Two days of drills around shortstop convinced the Dallas officials that Watts had the makings of a pro baseballer. . . . One of the Dallas coaches hit tricky grounders at Watts an hour a day. . . . In the two hours of shagging, Sparkie booted just three chances. . . . Right now the 17-year-old youngster is sitting on the Dallas bench but he expects to be farmed to Gladewater, Texas in the Class C. East Texas league. . . . If he stays in the Dalls chain until Aug. 16, Sparkie will draw down a bonus of $1,000. . . . Bobby Goff, Dallas business manager, says the 6-1. 170-pound star may also be tried as a pitcher, if he goes to Gladewater. . . . Sparkie also sent along some encouragement for Lou "Double No-Hit" Gregorio, the fine Tyger pitcher of the last couple of seasons. . . . Gregorio has always been worried that his 5-8 stature may be too small for the pros. . . . But Sparkie says, "tell Lou (Gregorio) that Lou Froconi, Dallis starting pitcher, is only 5-7 so Louie should go places in pro ball as tall as he is."

JUST PUTTERING AROUND: Latest spring sport athletic awards list from Miami university includes 133 names. . . . Four Mansfielders are on the roster. . . . Numeral sweater winners were Angelo Taddeo in golf and Martin Bricker and Pete Vogt in track. . . . Bob Troll picked up participation numerals in track. . . . Shelby high school will have a new football press box ready for the 1949 season. . . . The new enclosed box will be located across the gridiron from the present one. . . . More than 45,000 students took part in competitive athletics in Western Conference schools during the past year. . . . Joe DiMaggio, the ailing New York Yankee great, will participate in a homer-hitting contest before tomorrow's exhibition tilt with the New York Giants. . . . Joltin' Joe has not seen any action this year but has been working out frequently. . . . Gregory Herouns, Lakewood tackle, will tote 265 pounds into the north-south all-star football game in Massillon Aug. 13.

LEN SIMONETTI, former Cleveland Brown tackle star, has decided to take another whack at pro football. . . . "Meatball" retired after last season to take a job as deputy sheriff in Tuscarawas county but a $7,000 offer from the Baltimore Colts cut Len's "vacation" short. . . . The big fellow weighs 300 pounds now but plans to report at 275. . . . The Cleveland Browns promotional movie "The Year Around With the Browns" has been shown to 240,000 persons in seventeen states. . . . It will be shown at the Mansfield Presbyterian church Men's club Thursday. . . . One print is currently making the rounds in New Zealand. . . . A staff of 300 trained ushers is on duty at Cleveland Indian night and Sunday baseball games. . . . There's also a crew of 100 uniformed policemen on duty. . . . Whitey Lewis's book "The Cleveland Indians" and Lou Boudreau's "Player-Manager" have both reached the best-seller lists. . . . The Indians call Mike Garcia, rookie tosser, "Big Bear."

Mansfield Hawks Try For Lead In County Ball Loop

The Mansfield Hawks will attempt to take over first place in the Richland county baseball league today when they entertain Ontario at 2:30 p. m. at Tillman park.

The Hawks now have a two-wins-one-loss record and are tied with Butler for first place. Butler is idle, today, however, and a victory would put the Mansfield nine in undisputed possession of the top spot.

Shelby is host to Lexington in the other game and the winner of that tilt will automatically go into a tie with Butler. Both Shelby and Lexington have broken even in two games.

Five Teams Given Chance To Catch Studebaker Golfers

Five of the other nine teams in the News-Journal A golf league have a mathematical chance to beat out Gibson Studebaker in the league's final round of the first half Tuesday at Possum Run.

Gibson has a total of 364 points but by the present system of scoring, a team has the possibility of scoring up to 72 points per session. Within 72 points of Gibson's are: Myers Supply, 331½; Ideal Billiards, 319 Hall's Shamrock Market, 309½; Blue Goose Tavern, 308½; and Drive-in-ette, 295.

Out of the running are Komito's Clothes, 244½; PD's Bar, 240; and Lee's Lunch, 189.

The second round will begin next week and the two winners will meet in a playoff for the league title at the end of the season.

Harrison Rips Par For Canadian Crown

TORONTO—(AP)— E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., won the Canadian open golf championship yesterday with a 72-hole score of 271, seventeen strokes under par.

The big former Army sergeant strung together rounds of 66, 67, 71 and 67 over the par-72 St. George's course to lead at every hole.

JUNIORS TUNE UP—The "kids" will hold the golfing spotlight in Mansfield this week as the first annual Richland county junior tournament is held Wednesday at Coolridge. At the top, some of the Westbrook caddies who plan to enter the tournament get a few words of advice from Mayor James Rhodes of Columbus, left, and Westbrook Pro Tom Raklets. The "juniors are Paul Smollen, Norman Zartman, Larry Inscore (with putter), Bud Baith, John Kopchok, Dean Hahn and Earl Heichel. Shelly Swank Makes Hill Debut With Penn Auto 9

Shelly Swank will make his 1949 pitching debut for the Penn Auto-Sporting Goods baseball team today as the team travels to Centerburg for a 2:30 p. m. game.

Swank played second base and did a little pitching for the club last year. He has been used at shortstop the last two games, but Manager Lefty Deeds revealed yesterday that he planned to start him on the mound today. Swank was a fine pitcher at Senior high school a year ago and was batting practice pitcher for Ohio university this spring.

Deeds said that Catcher Wilbur Wade will move to the vacated shortstop post and Tick Hamilton will take over back of the bat. He plans to continue with his outfield of last Sunday which had Red Hamman in right, Jack Hammett in left and Jim Guest in center. Mike Gruber will play third base. Dick Poth, second and Don Hardy, first.

Penn Auto has won six games and lost three. Players are to meet at noon today at McCarrick's service station on West Fourth street.

Suggs Is Winner In Western Open

OKLAHOMA CITY, —(AP)— Louise Suggs, Carrolton, Ga., defeated Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., 5-4 to win the women's western open golf championship here yesterday.

The victory was the first professional triumph for the little Georgia star. It also gave her her third western title to share honors with Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Patty Berg, also three-time winners of the event.

County Junior Golf Champ To Gain Trophy

The Richland county junior tournament prize list was touched off today with the announcement by Coolridge Golf course Manager Fred Huntsman that he will donate a trophy to the champion.

Huntsman said that a 15-inch cup, the same as given Pete Thoma for the club championship last year, will be awarded to the junior king. The first annual "18 and under" tournament is to be held Wednesday at Coolridge.

The list of entrants grew to 14 yesterday as eight entries came in and another dozen was expected to be postmarked before the deadline of midnight tonight. Entries are to be sent to Bill Mercer at 956 Maumee avenue along with the dollar entry fee.

The eight boys who came into the fold yesterday are Ed Thomas, of Coolridge, Ed Vild of Possum Run and Westbrook caddies Jimmy Hager, Dean Hahn, Bob Scadova, Paul Smollen, Warren Worthley, and Walt Kowalski.

Officials of the tournament were named yesterday by County golf association secretary Mercer. He said that Ed Blonston and Fred Huntsman would serve as scorekeepers with himself and Charley Stine as starters.

Association members will caddy for the juniors.

Gets a Birdie The Hard Way

ALICE, Tex. —(AP)— Dr. George A. Farquhar claims a birdie. His ball vanished on his second shot on the No. 1 hole at the Country Club golf course.

He found it eventually—in a bird nest 10 feet high in a mesquite bush.

Farquhar took a 6 iron and swung. The ball landed six feet from the cup.

He putted in for a par 4. Or was it a birdie?

Two Women Sign for Bout

Another pair of women wrestlers—Mae Weston and Lillian Ellison—have been booked to appear in the Mansfield armory ring next Saturday night. They will meet in the semi-final match.

Last night's show was called off yesterday morning by Promoter Clete Kauffman when Nell Stewart was unable to make the show after an accident in her family. Kauffman cancelled the card when he was unable to line up a substitute for Stewart against Helen Hild.

Two bouts featuring men grapplers will be signed early in the week to complete the card for next Saturday. Don Evans had been scheduled against Ronnie Etchison in last night's feature.

Coan's Ninth Frame Homer Turns Trick

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gil Coan hit a home run with two out and one on in the ninth inning yesterday to give the Washington Senators a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians before a crowd of 9,695.

Coan's third homer of the year, it was only inches inside the foul line.

It presented Ray Scarborough, who pitched only one inning, his seventh victory. Bob Lemon, who had replaced Frank Papish in the eighth, was Coan's victim and was charged with his third defeat.

The Senators punched over the tying run in the eighth on Clyde Vollmer's single and Eddie Robinson's triple just before a downpour interrupted the game 40 minutes.

Jim Hegan's single, Papish's sacrifice and Ray Boone's single gave the Indians a run off Mickey Harris in the third inning. Joe Gordon blasted his twelfth homer in the fourth to project Cleveland into a 2-0 lead.

Papish slipped on the mound to balk across Al Kozar from third in the Senators' half of the fourth.

Lefthander Mickey Harris, who defeated the Indians 3-1 while pitching for the Boston Red Sox earlier this month, allowed the Tribe only six hits in eight innings.

The first Tribe hit came in the third when Jim Hegan opened the inning with a single.

Papish making his first start of the season, allowed only three hits in the first seven innings. He walked five, but was seldom in trouble until with one out in the eighth the hits by Vollmer and Robinson knotted the score at 2-2.

Lemon then entered the game and walked Kozar. Buddy Lewis batted for Mark Christman and topped a roller to Mickey Vernon. The first baseman's throw to the plate nipped Robinson as he tried to score from third.

SHERRY GETS HIT

Sherry Robertson then batted for Ralph Weigel and beat out a hit to deep short. Ed Stewart, a third lefthanded pinchhitter, went to the plate for Harris and lined to Gordon ending the inning.

Double plays ruined Indian scoring threats in the sixth and seventh. With the bases loaded and one out in the sixth, Christman grabbed Papish's grounder at third, tagged Dale Mitchell for one out and doubled the pitcher with a throw to first.

In the seventh, Bob Kennedy hit into a fast double play with one out and Vernon on first.

When play resumed after the downpour, Scarborough replaced Harris and retired the Indians in order in the ninth.

In the Senators' half, Catcher Al Evans greeted Lemon with a single. Sam Dente forced Evans at second and Sam Mele fanned. Then came Coan's homer.

The defeat, ending a three game winning streak, dumped the Indians into fifth place. They remained six and a half games behind the New York Yankees, but they lost a full game to the Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics.

Chiaverini Bows From Golf Meet

By FRITZ HOWELL

AKRON —(AP)— The longest reign in Ohio golfing history ended yesterday as Val Chiaverini, state publinks champion since 1942, bowed out in the second round of match play in the annual pay-as-you-go at Breathnach Country Club.

Chiaverini, stocky star of the fee course contingent, was a two-down victim of 19-year-old Joe Lazor, caddie master of the host club and brother of the host professional, Nick Lazor.

The courageous kid, a tall blond, was three down at the end of four holes to the 35-year-old champion, but blazed back to tie at the end of eight holes. He fell back to two down at the end of 12, tied it again at the end of 15, and moved out front on No. 17 for the first time as Chiaverini needed four on the short hole.

Lazor clinched it on the final hole when Chiaverini's second shot soared out of bounds, forcing him to take a six to the victor's par five.

Chiaverini's demise left the youthful caddie master, a 35-year-old photographer, a 33-year-old shipping clerk, and a 28-year-old ex-soldier who is seeking a job, still in the running for the championship.

The photographer is Ralph Schneider of Cleveland, who tangles with Lazor in today's semifinals.

Schneider was one down at the end of 14 holes to Pete Kostyshak on Youngstown, but grabbed three of the last four to advance to the semi-finals with a two-up conquest.

NOW IS FAVORITE

In the lower bracket Tom Cloran of East Liverpool, the unemployed ex-soldier, meets Paul Tulga, stocky shipping clerk from Columbus. The latter is being picked as the favorite, now that Chiaverini is out of the way.

Cloran, who tied Chiaverini for medalist honors in the qualifier with 143, had the toughest kind of match in disposing of Dayton's Jack Zimmerman in 19 holes.

Tulga dropped the first hole to Bill Santor of Cleveland, but won the next two and was never headed as he won a two-up victory.

The results of the morning's round: Val Chiaverini, Toledo, defeated Jim Caspio, Canton, 5 and 4; Pete Kostyshak, Youngstown, defeated Andy Santor, Youngstown, 3 and 2; Tom Cloran, East Liverpool, defeated John Barko, Cleveland, 5 and 4; Jack Zimmerman, Dayton, defeated Steve Kungle, Akron, 2 and 1; Bill Santor, Cleveland, defeated Alex Pietrzak, Dayton, 3 and 2; Paul Tulga, Columbus, defeated Ed Koski, Steubenville, 2 and 1.

Long Drivers Will Compete

The longest hitters from each of Mansfield's three golf clubs will compete in a driving contest scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Richland Driving range.

Richland manager Nick Linster said that a prize will be given to each member of the team which has the longest single ball. Competing will be Carl Wiseman, Bob Moorhead and Jim Hegarty of Westbrook, Red Dillon, Ted Etzel and Bernie Mathias of Possum Run and Pete Thoma, Joe Mayer and Jim Musille of Coolridge.

Three Ball Teams Play At Prospect

Three teams will see action in a softball twin-bill today at Prospect park beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Westinghouse will meet Isaly Dairy in the first game and will tangle with D. & M. Cigar store in the second clash at 3 p. m. Manager Bobby Santoro has nominated either Willie Fowler or Don Gross to hurl for the Cigars with A. C. Jenkins behind the plate. D. & M. has won 12 of 15.

Golf or Pasture Pool—This Fellow Shoots a 68 First Time Out

By A. B. GINNER

Of all the sporting events ever invented, dreamed up or otherwise shoved off onto an unsuspecting public there is undoubtedly more misunderstanding about golf than any other.

Being an old veteran of slightly better than three weeks on the links, I'm going to blow the lid off the whole cursed racket for the benefit of those who haven't been trapped as yet.

As a prime example of how these sly creatures get in their dirty digs, look at my own case. A month ago I and the Boss (Mrs. Ginner) were riding along out South Main street. We passed a place called Possum Run. Why they called it that, I don't know. All we saw running there were grown men, each chasing a little white pill around a good-sized farm. Not a possum in the bunch!

"Pasture pool," I snorted.

"Suckers," the Boss growled.

One week later I was chasing my share of the pills.

The object of the game is to put a tiny ball on a big hill, swat it out into the next county, then spend half the day looking for it. The balls are evidently magnetized or something since they invariably come to rest under a pile of grass and remain there to rot until some unsuspecting player steps on them.

In between these hills, curses, and lost balls are little round things called holes. In each resides a little demon who pops up and kicks balls away from his doorstep. Sometimes the demon goes to sleep on the job and a golfer accidentally drops a ball into the hole. This calls for much loud bragging, pats on the back and a hasty computation of scores.

On rare occasions a tiny little guy will struggle along under the weight of a bag full of clubs and right alongside him will be a much larger man carring nothing. The little guy is a caddy. The big guy is one of the victims of golfusitis.

The caddy has a definite place in the game. It is he who decides whether the player shall use a number two iron or a mashie-niblick to kill any snakes or other hazards which may be encountered. (It is considered unethical to use anything but an iron on snakes.) He also receives a small cash payment at the end of an alloted number of holes, then turns green at the amount. This is called a green fee.

Someone, no one has ever determined who, prescribes a certain number of strokes for each hole. This amount is called par for the hole. No golfer who merits the name will ever admit going around in more strokes than Mr. Unknown originally set as par. (Kicks, entire misses and baseball-like throws do not count against the score.)

Never will I forget my first trip around the course. I came puffing into the club house, sweat pouring from every pore and a grin a mile wide on my face. Someone asked me how I made out.

"Oh, I took a 68," I nonchalantly replied.

"A 68! Hey, Gang, come here!"

In slightly less than nothing flat, I was the center of attraction. Many were the words of praise heaped on my shoulders.

Then some smart guy happened to think to ask me how many holes that 68 was for.

I tell ya, golf is a sucker's game!

Doing Much Putting?

By ALEX J. MORRISON

Author of "A New Way to Better Golf" and Originator of "Guaranteed Golf Instruction."

WHEN I was giving lessons in golf on the stage in theaters around the country, I often found it necessary to escape, if only for short periods, the strain from having to successfully hit a ball off a man's head every day, also from constant teaching.

This escape came through attempts to master some musical instrument. I tackled one of the toughest, the straight soprano saxaphone, given to me by Pewee Byers, formerly a soloist with Paul Whiteman's orchestra.

When working in the Broadway musical, "Passing Show," in 1923, I received help from the star Ted Lewis.

In empty theaters I spent hours trying to improve fingering of the keys and tone control. The latter was developed by holding the bell of the instrument close to a mirror on the wall above the makeup shelf.

This enabled me to hear the tone produced, as it resounded off the mirror.

THESE musical interludes often come to mind now especially when I'm discoursing on the subject of putting practices. The most successful playing pros practice countless hours.

Surely the average player needs some fraction of this time even if he isn't out to become a tournament winner.

Familiarity with your putter and the routine you should follow to be consistently successful is absolutely necessary. And this familiarity can't be had simply by dreaming about these things; you have to pitch in and do them many times.

As an incentive I would say that improvement in putting is had easier and faster than progress with any other part of the game.

Also, this means immediate and considerable improvement with a big percentage of the strokes used in every round. Start with an extra putter to use at home. Next week I'll give you a routine for practice.

TEE TIME

With plans for the Ohio Amateur swiftly taking shape at Westbrook, a slight look into the history of the old club which is having its first major tournament may be in order.

According to Attorney William Weldon, a charter member, the club was started back in 1900 with nine holes being laid out south and east of what is now North Lake park. It took in all the territory north of Fourth street in the then-young city.

The club at the time had 200 "stockholders," who became charter members by putting $100 each into the building of the course. An additional $30,000 was borrowed. Charles Voegele was elected the first president.

By 1908, the city began to press tightly around the course and the club purchased the 170-acre Twitchell farm at the present site.

The farm was largely woods but the hardy golf enthusiasts set to work. They moved their little shed of a clubhouse from the original site and made it a locker house. Then they killed two birds with one stone by clearing trees from the course and using the lumber to build a new clubhouse.

Two disastrous fires have played a major part in the history of the club. The first one in 1913 burned down the locker house (the original clubhouse) and a new one was built.

Then on May 28, 1941, a $75,000 blaze levelled the clubhouse to the ground in mid-afternoon. The fire started just under the roof but was not discovered immediately and swept down everything but the locker house. Actual cause was never discovered although it was believed to be a bad electrical connection.

Ironically, the club had to wait until one year before celebrating its golden anniversary to get a major tournament such as the "Am". Whether that is an indication of bigger and greater things to come during the next fifty years, we'll have to wait to find out.

Although no advance announcement was made of their entry, two Coolridge golfers played in the National Public Links qualifier last Sunday at Cleveland. The pair, Ray Malaska and Nick Komjenovich, placed out of the money although Malaska was named fifth alternate with a 151 score. Representing the district will be Jimmy Caspio, of Canton and Ralph Schneider and Bob Zieske, of Cleveland. All three played in the Ohio Publinx which ends today.

A few weeks ago a story came out of Atlanta about a man suing a golf course because of damage of his adjoining property. The sequel to that yarn came last Sunday at the ADGA best-ball tournament at Tam O'Shanter, Canton.

The writer, by various means of kicks, hand magnies and an occasional fair show had gotten as far as the fifth hole when one of his usual slices carried near a fence, separating the course from an adjoining corn field.

Approaching the fence we spotted a polite but firm sign: "No Trespassing. You will be shot. No fooling." We went a little closer. From behind a large bush popped an old lady who was firm but not so polite. She brought shot - gun to shoulder and took aim.

"Just touch that fence and see if I won't shoot you" we didn't. She didn't either. But we still think she would have liked to.

The old lady was the talk of the course that day for apparently she was standing a steady patrol on the field and every golfer who came into her range was ordered to keep moving.

Former Baseball Homer King Dies

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—James "Buck" Freeman, 77, former baseball home run king died yesterday in Mercy hospital here.

Freeman was one of the outstanding sluggers at the turn of the century and set a home run record of 25 in 1899 with the Washington club of the National league. That mark stood until Babe Ruth hit 29 for the Boston Red Sox in 1919.

Freeman started his big league career with Washington in 1691. He retired from baseball in 1935 after serving as a scout and a minor league manager.

Gorman-Rupp 9 Goes to Wooster

Gorman-Rupp's crack softball nine will be after its third straight victory Tuesday night when it journeys to Wooster for the only Ohio Major league game on tap this week.

The two teams met here two weeks ago with the Wooster Lumber team taking a 2-1 decision. Gorman-Rupp has broken even in four league starts.

High School Star Signs With Reds

ATHENS — (AP) — An 18-year-old high school pitcher with a record of 58 wins against five losses has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Reds.

Mike Bycofski of nearby Jacksonville Trimble high school will report Monday to the Red's Carleston, W. Va. farm club in the Class A central league. Bycofski hurled 34 of his victories during his scholastic career and the other 24 with an American legion baseball team.

Top Church Crews Meet On Thursday

Eight undefeated softball teams, three of them girls' nines, will be out to protect perfect records this week and at least one is sure to fall.

One Church league team will drop off the perch as two of the unbeaten clubs collide Thursday. Park Avenue Baptist, winner of five straight games, is to collide with First Congregational, a four time victor, at Farm Tool field.

All other undefeated teams play clubs with poorer records and have a chance to keep their clean slates.

IMPORTANT SESSION

An important meeting of all managers, umpires and members of the softball committee will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Recreation department offices on West Fourth street.

City Recreation Director Stan Kamen said, in calling the meeting the proper legal pitching motion was one topic which would be discussed. A film on the pitching motion is to be shown.

Californians Win Row Race

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. —(AP)— The smooth-stroking University of California crew won the varsity event in the Poughkeepsie regatta yesterday after coming from behind in the last mile.

Ky Ebright's Olympic champions, who ruled slight favorites over the University of Washington, had to contend with the Huskies right down to the finish, and beat them out by about a boat length.

Following were Cornell, Navy, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Columbia, Stanford, M. I. T., and Rutgers, in order.

One spectator was drowned before the start of the regatta.

Raymond Winans, 21, of Poughkeepsia, N. Y., was drowned when his small boat was overturned by a gust of wind.

Strong winds and the rains held up all the races except the freshman event which was won by Washington. Cornell was second.

Arrangements Completed For Ohio 'Am' Golf Meet

Arrangements for the 43rd annual Ohio Amateur Golf tournament to be held at Westbrook County Club July 11-16 were completed during the past week by club officials and G. W. (Sockeye) Davis, secretary of the Ohio Golf association.

Davis visited the local club and made provisions for prizes, the Tuesday night banquet and for such properties as tents, scoreboards and markers.

Big prize of the tournament is the Governor's Cup, a rotating trophy which goes to the club of the winner for one year. The trophy is three-feet high and was donated by Governor James Cox during his term of office.

PERMANENT AWARDS

Permanent trophies are to be presented to the winner, runner-up, two defeated in the semi-finals, and to the medalist for the two days of medal play.

Tuesday night, June 12 — at the conclusion of medal and before the start of match play — will be the annual meeting and dinner of the Ohio Golf association. All contestants will receive one banquet ticket for their $7.50 tournament entry fee.

Five new members of the state board of directors are to be elected at the meeting. Mansfield's Dale Rose was elected to a three-year term last year. The banquet will have only short speeches and announcement of the match play pairings for the next day.

Around 200 golfers are expected to enter the event with the low 64 in medal play beginning 18-hole matches Wednesday. Two 18-hole matches a day will be played Thursday and Friday with the finalists going over the 36-hole route Saturday.

HANDICAP OF SIX

All members of private clubs who have a six or less handicap are eligible for the tournament. Twenty-four public links golfers are also invited to compete.

Previously it had been announced that 32 Publinx boys would get to play, but Davis explained the revision of that rule while here.

"The rule had always said 24," he explained. "However, last year the Ohio Publinx started match play at 64 men and there was no way to pick 24 out of the top 32. A concession was made to allow all 32 to play."

"This year the Publinx is back to starting match play with 16; so we are taking the top 24 scores from the medal play."

The medal play portion of the tournament will be played in threesomes and the match play portion in twosoms. There will be no admission charge to the grounds at any time.

American Ace Drops Out of English Meet

LONDON —(AP)— Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, 21-year-old U. S. singles titleholder, was spilled out of the Wimbledon tennis championships yesterday in a sensational upset by the two-handed shots of Australia's Geoff Brown.

Prime Minister Attlee and some 17,000 other sweltering fans saw the second-seeded Los Angeles husky bow out in just one hour and 13 minutes on Wimbledon's famed center court, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

All the other seeded stars gained the men's singles quarter-finals with straight-set triumphs, including top-seeded Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., defending champion Bob Falkenburg of Beverly Hills, Calif., and former U. S. titleholder Frank Parker of Los Angeles.

Of the other singles survivors, Schroeder had the hardest match. He eliminated Vladimer Cernik of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 8-6, 8-6. But the tournament favorite from California always had something in hand.

Parker, seeded third, used only 57 minutes in ousting George Worthington of Australia, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Falkenburg, seeded fourth although he is the defending titlist, eliminated Hans von Swol, 34-year-old Dutch physician, 7-5, 6-0, 6-4, also without incident.

Four times the World Series has been played over the five-out-of-nine game route.

Brooklyn Wins Big Homer Duel, 17 to 10

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates staged a home run battle at Forbes Field yesterday with the Pirates taking the homer duel and the Dodgers the ball game, 17-10.

Pittsburgh pummeled Ralph Branca for five homers while the Dodgers belted four off Ray Poat, Cliff Chambers and Hugh Case.

Ralph Kiner socked two home runs and Dino Restelli, Wally Estlake and Ed Stevens one each for the Pirates. Kiner's blows were his 17th and 18th of the season.

Gil Hodges featured Brooklyn's 17-hit bombardment with two homers, a triple, double and single. Hodges drove home four runs and scored four. The Dodgers wrapped up the game with nine runs in the third inning. Six of the runs were unearned.

Branca, making his first start in ten days, went all the way to record his ninth victory against one loss.

Home runs also figured in the Philadelphia Phillies' 6-5 conquest over the Cincinnati Reds. Del Ennis and Stan Lopata socked consecutive eighth inning homers for the Phils and Grady Hatton and Danny Litwhiler whacked boundary drives for the Reds.

Litwhiler banged his in the ninth with two on to drive starter Ken Heintzelman from the hill in favor of Robin Roberts who stamped out the rally to save the game for Heintzelman.

The tail-end Chicago Cubs dumped the New York Giants, 4-1, behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Rush. Catcher Ralph Novotney drove home three runs and Hank Sauer the other with his ninth homer of the campaign.

TIGERS TAKE YANKS

Prince Hal Newhouser pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 9-3 triumph over the American league's pace-setting New York Yankees. Newhouser allowed only six safeties but walked eight. The star Lefty loaded the bases on walks in the fourth and Hank Bauer promptly singled two runs across. Newhouser again jammed the sacks in the ninth but the Yanks could cull only one run.

The Tigers hopped on Fred Sanford for four runs in the first inning with Don Kolloway singling home two and Newhouser coasted the rest of the way.

The loss cut the Yanks' lead over the second place Philadelphia Athletics to four-and-one-half games. The A's came from behind and nipped the Chicago White Sox, 7-6.

Chicago jumped on Dick Fowler for five runs in the first inning. The A's pecked away at Howie Judson and tied the count in the sixth. Chicago forged ahead, 6-5, in the eighth but the A's rebounded with two in their half to win on doubles by Hank Majeski, Elmer Valo and Eddie Joost's fly ball.

The Boston Red Sox took over fourth place for the Cleveland Indians, trouncing the St. Louis Browns, 13-2 while the Indians bowed, 4-2, to the Washington Senators.

Boston sewed up the game in the third inning with a seven run rally that enabled Lefty Mel Parnell to cruise to his tenth victory.

The Sox hammered three St. Louis pitchers for 17 hits including a two-run homer by former Brownie Al Zarilla. Johnny Pesky chimed in with four safeties including a triple.

Ohio 'Stars' Win on Late Field Goal

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)— Bill ...ks of Hamilton, scored ... winning field goal with ...ar seconds remaining last ...ght to give the Ohio high ...hool All-Stars a 52-50 bas...etball victory over a Kentucky ...ll-star aggregation after an up...ill battle before some 1,400 per...piring fans.

The Kentuckians, paced by sharp-shooting Bob Dick of Bardstown St. Joseph, had led from the outset until Cliff Whisman of Middletown dropped in a free throw to deadlock the game, 48-48, with one minute and 15 seconds remaining.

Bob Heim of Newport Catholic then put the boys from the blue grass back in the lead, 50-48, with a one-hander but Richard Walls, a six-foot seven-incher from Fort Recovery, tied it with a rebound at the 15-second mark. Wilks then intercepted a Kentucky pass and hit from the side court for the deciding marker.

The Kentucky boys had jumped into a 4-0 lead at the start and at the end of the first quarter were ahead 12-11. They increased their lead to 30-21 at halftime and held a 40-33 advantage at the end of the third quarter.

Loss of Bill Faber of Bellevue, and Frank Ramsey of Madisonville, via the personal foul route during the final quarter hurt the Kentucky cause.

OUTSTANDING ACE

Dick, who led the scoring for the night with 17 counters, was voted the outstanding player of the event.

The Ohio all-stars, picked by Paul Walker, basketball coach at Middletown, had downed the Kentucky group, 39-32, at Bowling Green, Ky., last week. Ed Diddle, coach at Western Kentucky State college, selected the players from Kentucky.

Joey and Gus Slated Again

CINCINNATI — (AP) — There will be a repeat performance here Sept. 19 of the Joey Maxim-Gus Lesnevich boxing bout.

But promoter Sam Becker is going to see to it that there isn't a repeat of the $40,000 loss he took when Maxim won a 15-round decision from Lesnevich in May.

Both fighters will work on a percentage basis and Maxim agreed to a contract giving him 35 per cent of the net gate plus amounts derived from radio and television broadcasts.

In their previous fight both boys received guarantees with $50,000 going to Lesnevich.

Grunt and Groan Artists Play a Dual Role

By RALPH POSTLEWAITE

Contrary to their ring actions and press notices, professional wrestlers are, for the most part, likable home-loving characters. They can and do desert the brawling lusty tempo of the ring for a home life that is not unlike yours and mine.

Ivan Rasputin, one of the toughest and most durable of the ring giants, is typical of the wrestler "out of the ring". His attractive wife Sybil and two daughters, Susan Ellen, 6, and Merle Gay, 3, unite to form his most ardent following.

Sybil has been on hand countless times to hear the roar of the crowd when her husband dons the mask of his profession and leaves his corner to do battle.

But the youngsters have been present only on one occasion to watch their daddy in action. That was here, in Mansfield, when Ivan took two of three falls from Wild Bill Zimovich in a wild, scrambling melee staged both in and out of the ring.

Merle Gay, spunky and voluble, was elated and depressed by turns. At the end of the first fall, taken by Wild Bill, she was emphatic in her disapproval. "Mommy, let's take Daddy and go home", she chirped.

Susan Ellen, less dramatic but nonetheless disturbed, sat quietly through most of the bout, her emotions registered plainly on her chubby features. She is intensely moved by anything in which her father plays a central part.

Born in Chelsea, Mass., June 3, 1915, Ivan started his wrestling career as an amateur, at the age of 14. For two years he worked with YMCA teams, and then at the age of 16 he deserted the simon pure ranks for the "pro" circuit. And in just one year he had proved his ability by wrestling the junior light-heavy title of the world from Graham Stockton. That bout took place in 1932 in St. Johns, Newfoundland.

"In the last five years," Ivan said, "more wrestlers have lost their lives from ring injuries than in all the preceding years. And the answer is obvious. The public wants action, and blood. The boys give it to them."

Ivan himself suffered a broken back that shelved him for almost three years. It happened December 23rd, 1945, in the Milk Fund show at the Boston Gardens. His opponent in that ill-fated bout was Leo Numa. Not until May, 1948, was Ivan permitted to re-enter the ring.

In his 18 years of travel on the money circuit the Bear has met all of the best of them. Names such as Ed "Strangler" Lewis, Jim Londos, Everett Marshall, and Frank Sexton bring back memories to the burly Russian.

In 1935 Ivan shook the world light-heavy belt loose from Midget Fisher, in Detroit, and from 1938 to 1944 he reigned as the Pacific Coast heavy king after dethroning Sandor Szabo.

But Ivan doesn't hesitate in answering who his toughest opponent was.

"My wife."

And Ivan should know Sybil, his attractive, dark haired wife, comes from a wrestling family. On one of Ivan's first trips to her home, before they were married, three of "Syb's" brothers piled Ivan in a bit of horseplay. Although the Bear lost most of his clothes in the rough house, he wound up sitting on top of all three!

"And that's the last time I got the best of her family!" he concluded. "You see," he added, almost as an afterthought, "we were married shortly after that!"

Ivan laughs when you ask if Rasputin is his real name. And if you're persistent enough, he'll tell you that Al Haft, the Columbus promoter, was responsible for that sinister moniker way back in '35.

Rasputin is proud of his family.

"You don't have to be a good wrestler to get the kind of a family I have," he quipped, "but it helps!"

Seeks Court Order on Fund

NEW YORK—(AP)—Trustees for the estate of the late Babe Ruth seek a court ruling on what to do with royalties from the estate of the baseball idol.

A surrogate court justice yesterday directed attorneys to file briefs before presenting the case in court.

Trustees Paul Carey and Melvyn Lowenstein explained that $26,404 has accrued from royalties earned by the Babe's estate since his death last summer.

They want a court decision on whether to pay the royalties to the widow, Mrs. Claire Ruth, or to retain the royalties in the estate in which two adopted daughters will share eventually.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Consulting Engineer Kenneth H. Osborn, who helped build Yankee stadium and the big football bowls at Notre Dame and the University of Michigan, died yesterday following a brief illness. He was 63.

Only 12 pitchers in major league history have won more than 300 games during their careers.

Ohio Baseball Ace Signs Pro Bonus Pact

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Robert (Sparky) Weygandt, star shortstop and leading Big Ten hitter with Ohio State university this spring, has accepted a bonus contract from the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said last night.

Buckeye first baseman Fred Taylor of Zanesville, O., was offered a similar contract, but declined in order to play out a remaining year of eligibility in basketball and baseball.

Weygandt, of McDonald, O., batted .438. He also had a year's eligibility remaining. Weygandt signed a contract calling for a $3,000 bonus. He is to be farmed to the Davenport, Ia. team in the Three-I league.

Taylor, a married war veteran, was reportedly offered $3,500. He batted .340 and was second in the Big Ten in runs batted in.

Contacted by phone at Wichita, Kan., where he is attending the championship collegiate game, Buckeye Coach Floyd Stahl said he would not stand in the way of Weygandt's decision.

"If big league scouts continue to grab off outstanding boys, it will ruin interest in college baseball, but I wouldn't stand in the way of any boy who has a real chance to make the big league grade," Stahl said.

Al Hager Shares Golf Honors; Smith Paces 'Special' Meet

Al Hager was forced to share honors with a host of other golfers in the regular Saturday Sweepstakes yesterday at the Westbrook Country club.

Hager, as usual, was low medalist, with a 75, but the feature of the day was a nine-blind-hole contest. Bob Henry won this even in Class A with a 36, Paul Stoodt matched the count in the "B" section, but a Class C golfer Dwight Smith paced all the others with a 35.

Other victors: Class A—low net, Mike Orr, 81-10—71; Class B—low gross, Ross Gage, 86, and low net, Pete Grant, 87-20—67; Class C—low gross, Tom Wright, 94, and Bill Beam, 98-30—68.

In the blind bogey, six tied with 77's. They were: Bill Sayre, Al Heck, Denny Schaaf, Tim Sammons, Herman Siegenthaler and George Smith. Knotted at 78 were George Meilinger and Sherman Wentz.

8 Mansfield Softball Teams Unbeaten

Shown in putting practice are: Paul Runyan, Lew Worsham, Ed Oliver and Toney Penna. Tournament pros spend countless hours at practice with putters. Duffers seldom spend minutes.

Doing Much Putting?

By ALEX J. MORRISON
Author of "A New Way to Better Golf" and Originator of "Guaranteed Golf Instruction."

WHEN I was giving lessons in golf on the stage in theaters around the country, I often found it necessary to escape, if only for short periods, the strain from having to successfully hit a ball off a man's head every day, also from constant teaching.

This escape came through attempts to master some musical instrument. I tackled one of the toughest, the straight soprano saxaphone, given to me by Pewee Byers, formerly a soloist with Paul Whiteman's orchestra.

When working in the Broadway musical, "Passing Show," in 1923, I received help from the star Ted Lewis.

In empty theaters I spent hours trying to improve fingering of the keys and tone control. The latter was developed by holding the bell of the instrument close to a mirror on the wall above the makeup shelf.

This enabled me to hear the tone produced, as it resounded off the mirror.

THESE musical interludes often come to mind now especially when I'm discoursing on the subject of putting practices. The most successful playing pros practice countless hours.

Surely the average player needs some fraction of this time even if he isn't out to become a tournament winner.

Familiarity with your putter and the routine you should follow to be consistently successful is absolutely necessary. And this familiarity can't be had simply by dreaming about these things; you have to pitch in and do them many times.

As an incentive I would say that improvement in putting is had easier and faster than progress with any other part of the game.

Also, this means immediate and considerable improvement with a big percentage of the strokes used in every round. Start with an extra putter to use at home. Next week I'll give you a routine for practice.

TEE TIME

By Charley Stine
(News-Journal Sports Writer)

With plans for the Ohio Amateur swiftly taking shape at Westbrook, a slight look into the history of the old club which is having its first major tournament may be in order.

According to Attorney William Weldon, a charter member, the club was started back in 1900 with nine holes being laid out south and east of what is now North Lake park. It took in all the territory north of Fourth street in the then-young city.

The club at the time had 200 "stockholders," who became charter members by putting $100 each into the building of the course. An additional $30,000 was borrowed. Charles Voegele was elected the first president.

By 1908, the city began to press tightly around the course and the club purchased the 170-acre Twitchell farm at the present site.

The farm was largely woods but the hardy golf enthusiasts set to work. They moved their little shed of a clubhouse from the original site and made it a locker house. Then they killed two birds with one stone by clearing trees from the course and using the lumber to build a new clubhouse.

Two disastrous fires have played a major part in the history of the club. The first one in 1913 burned down the locker house (the original clubhouse) and a new one was built.

Then on May 28, 1941, a $75,000 blaze levelled the clubhouse to the ground in mid-afternoon. The fire started just under the roof but was not discovered immediately and swept down everything but the locker house. Actual cause was never discovered although it was believed to be a bad electrical connection.

Ironically, the club had to wait until one year before celebrating its golden anniversary to get a major tournament such as the "Am". Whether that is an indication of bigger and greater things to come during the next fifty years, we'll have to wait to find out.

Although no advance announcement was made of their entry, two Coolridge golfers played in the National Public Links qualifier last Sunday at Cleveland. The pair, Ray Malaska and Nick Komjenovich, placed out of the money although Malaska was named fifth alternate with a 151 score. Representing the district will be Jimmy Caspio, of Canton and Ralph Schreider and Bob Zieske, of Cleveland. All three played in the Ohio Publinx which ends today.

A few weeks ago a story came out of Atlanta about a man suing a golf course because of damage of his adjoining property. The sequel to that yarn came last Sunday at the ADGA best-ball tournament at Tam O'Shanter, Canton.

The writer, by various means of kicks, hand mashies and an occasional fair shot had gotten as far as the fifth hole when one of his usual slices carried near a fence, separating the course from an adjoining corn field.

Approaching the fence we spotted a polite but firm sign: "No Trespassing. You will be shot. No fooling." We went a little closer. From behind a large bush popped an old lady who was firm but not so polite. She brought shot - gun to shoulder and took aim.

"Just touch that fence and see if I won't shoot you" we didn't. She didn't either. But we still think she would have liked to.

The old lady was the talk of the course that day for apparently she was standing a steady patrol on the field and every golfer who came into her range was ordered to keep moving.

Former Baseball Homer King Dies

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—James "Buck" Freeman, 77, former baseball home run king died yesterday in Mercy hospital here.

Freeman was one of the outstanding sluggers at the turn of the century and set a home run record of 25 in 1899 with the Washington club of the National league. That mark stood until Babe Ruth hit 29 for the Boston Red Sox in 1919.

Freeman started his big league career with Washington in 1891. He retired from baseball in 1935 after serving as a scout and a minor league manager.

Gorman-Rupp 9 Goes to Wooster

Gorman-Rupp's crack softball nine will be after its third straight victory Tuesday night when it journeys to Wooster for the only Ohio Major league game on tap this week.

The two teams met here two weeks ago with the Wooster Lumber team taking a 2-1 decision. Gorman-Rupp has broken even in four league starts.

High School Star Signs With Reds

ATHENS — (AP) — An 18-year-old high school pitcher with a record of 58 wins against five losses has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Reds.

Mike Bycofski of nearby Jacksonville Trimble high school will report Monday to the Red's Carleston, W. Va. farm club in the Class A central league. Bycofski hurled 34 of his victories during his scholastic career and the other 24 with an American legion baseball team.

Top Church Crews Meet On Thursday

Eight undefeated softball teams, three of them girls' nines, will be out to protect perfect records this week and at least one is sure to fall.

One Church league team will drop off the perch as two of the unbeaten clubs collide Thursday. Park Avenue Baptist, winner of five straight games, is to collide with First Congregational, a four time victor, at Farm Tool field.

All other undefeated teams play clubs with poorer records and have a chance to keep their clean slates.

IMPORTANT SESSION

An important meeting of all managers, umpires and members of the softball committee will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Recreation department offices on West Fourth street.

City Recreation Director Stan Kamen said, in calling the meeting the proper legal pitching motion was one topic which would be discussed. A film on the pitching motion is to be shown.

Arrangements Completed For Ohio 'Am' Golf Meet

Arrangements for the 43rd annual Ohio Amateur Golf tournament to be held at Westbrook County Club July 11-16 were completed during the past week by club officials and G. W. (Sockeye) Davis, secretary of the Ohio Golf association.

Davis visited the local club and made provisions for prizes, the Tuesday night banquet and for such properties as tents, scoreboards and markers.

Big prize of the tournament is the Governor's Cup, a rotating trophy which goes to the club of the winner for one year. The trophy is three-feet high and was donated by Governor James Cox during his term of office.

PERMANENT AWARDS

Permanent trophies are to be presented to the winner, runner-up, two defeated in the semi-finals, and to the medalist for the two days of medal play.

Tuesday night, June 12 — at the conclusion of medal and before the start of match play — will be the annual meeting and dinner of the Ohio Golf association. All contestants will receive one banquet ticket for their $7.50 tournament entry fee.

Five new members of the state board of directors are to be elected at the meeting. Mansfield's Dale Rose was elected to a three-year term last year. The banquet will have only short speeches and announcement of the match play pairings for the next day.

Around 200 golfers are expected to enter the event with the low 64 in medal play beginning 18-hole matches Wednesday. Two 18-hole matches a day will be played Thursday and Friday with the finalists going over the 36-hole route Saturday.

HANDICAP OF SIX

All members of private clubs who have a six or less handicap are eligible for the tournament. Twenty-four public links golfers are also invited to compete.

Previously it had been announced that 32 Publinx boys would get to play, but Davis explained the revision of that rule while here.

"The rule had always, said 24," he explained. "However, last year the Ohio Publinx started match play at 64 men and there was no way to pick 24 out of the top 32. A concession was made to allow all 32 to play."

"This year the Publinx is back to starting match play with 16, so we are taking the top 24 scores from the medal play."

The medal play portion of the tournament will be played in threesomes and the match play portion in twosoms. There will be no admission charge to the grounds at any time.

American Ace Drops Out of English Meet

LONDON —(AP)— Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, 21-year-old U. S. singles titleholder, was spilled out of the Wimbledon tennis championships yesterday in a sensational upset by the two-handed shots of Australia's Geoff Brown.

Prime Minister Attlee and some 17,000 other sweltering fans saw the second-seeded Los Angeles husky bow out in just one hour and 13 minutes on Wimbledon's famed center court, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

All the other seeded stars gained the men's singles quarter-finals with straight-set triumphs, including top-seeded Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., defending champion Bob Falkenburg of Beverly Hills, Calif., and former U. S. titleholder Frank Parker of Los Angeles.

Of the other singles survivors, Schroeder had the hardest match. He eliminated Vladimer Cernik of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 8-6, 8-6. But the tournament favorite from California always had something in hand.

Parker, seeded third, used only 57 minutes in ousting George Worthington of Australia, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Falkenburg, seeded fourth although he is the defending titlist, eliminated Hans von Swol, 34-year-old Dutch physician, 7-5, 6-0, 6-4, also without incident.

Four times the World Series has been played over the five-out-of-nine game route.

Brooklyn Wins Big Homer Duel, 17 to 10

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates staged a home run battle at Forbes Field yesterday with the Pirates taking the homer duel and the Dodgers the ball game, 17-10.

Pittsburgh pummeled Ralph Branca for five homers while the Dodgers belted four off Ray Poat, Cliff Chambers and Hugh Case.

Ralph Kiner socked two home runs and Dino Restelli, Wally Estlake and Ed Stevens one each for the Pirates. Kiner's blows were his 17th and 18th of the season.

Gil Hodges featured Brooklyn's 17-hit bombardment with two homers, a triple, double and single. Hodges drove home four runs and scored four. The Dodgers wrapped up the game with nine runs in the third inning. Six of the runs were unearned.

Branca, making his first start in ten days, went all the way to record his ninth victory against one loss.

Home runs also figured in the Philadelphia Phillies' 6-5 conquest over the Cincinnati Reds. Del Ennis and Stan Lopata socked consecutive eighth inning homers for the Phils and Grady Hatton and Danny Litwhiler whacked boundary drives for the Reds.

Litwhiler banged his in the ninth with two on to drive starter Ken Heintzelman from the hill in favor of Robin Roberts who stamped out the rally to save the game for Heintzelman.

The tail-end Chicago Cubs dumped the New York Giants, 4-1, behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Rush. Catcher Ralph Novotney drove home three runs and Hank Sauer the other with his ninth homer of the campaign.

TIGERS TAKE YANKS

Prince Hal Newhouser pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 9-3 triumph over the American league's pace-setting New York Yankees. Newhouser allowed only six safeties but walked eight. The star Lefty loaded the bases on walks in the fourth and Hank Bauer promptly singled two runs across. Newhouser again jammed the sacks in the ninth but the Yanks could cull only one run.

The Tigers hopped on Fred Sanford for four runs in the first inning with Don Kolloway singling home two and Newhouser coasted the rest of the way.

The loss cut the Yanks' lead over the second place Philadelphia Athletics to four-and-one-half games. The A's came from behind and nipped the Chicago White Sox, 7-6.

Chicago jumped on Dick Fowler for five runs in the first inning. The A's pecked away at Howie Judson and tied the count in the sixth. Chicago forged ahead, 6-5, in the eighth but the A's rebounded with two in their half to win on doubles by Hank Majeski, Elmer Valo and Eddie Joost's fly ball.

The Boston Red Sox took over fourth place for the Cleveland Indians, trouncing the St. Louis Browns, 13-2 while the Indians bowed, 4-2, to the Washington Senators.

Boston sewed up the game in the third inning with a seven run rally that enabled Lefty Mel Parnell to cruise to his tenth victory.

The Sox hammered three St. Louis pitchers for 17 hits including a two-run homer by former Brownie Al Zarilla. Johnny Pesky chimed in with four safeties including a triple.

Ohio 'Stars' Win on Late Field Goal

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)— Bill Wilks of Hamilton, scored the winning field goal with four seconds remaining last night to give the Ohio high school All-Stars a 52-50 basketball victory over a Kentucky all-star aggregation after an uphill battle before some 1,400 perspiring fans.

The Kentuckians, paced by sharp-shooting Bob Dick of Bardstown St. Joseph, had led from the outset until Cliff Whisman of Middletown dropped in a free throw to deadlock the game, 48-48, with one minute and 15 seconds remaining.

Bob Heim of Newport Catholic then put the boys from the blue grass back in the lead, 50-48, with a one-hander but Richard Walls, a six-foot seven-incher from Fort Recovery, tied it with a rebound at the 15-second mark. Wilks then intercepted a Kentucky pass and hit from the side court for the deciding marker.

The Kentucky boys had jumped into a 4-0 lead at the start and at the end of the first quarter were ahead 12-11. They increased their lead to 30-21 at halftime and held a 40-33 advantage at the end of the third quarter.

Loss of Bill Faber of Bellevue, and Frank Ramsey of Madisonville, via the personal foul route during the final quarter hurt the Kentucky cause.

OUTSTANDING ACE

Dick, who led the scoring for the night with 17 counters, was voted the outstanding player of the event.

The Ohio all-stars, picked by Paul Walker, basketball coach at Middletown, had downed the Kentucky group, 39-32, at Bowling Green, Ky., last week. Ed Diddle, coach at Western Kentucky State college, selected the players from Kentucky.

Joey and Gus Slated Again

CINCINNATI — (AP) — There will be a repeat performance here Sept. 19 of the Joey Maxim-Gus Lesnevich boxing bout.

But promoter Sam Becker is going to see to it that there isn't a repeat of the $40,000 loss he took when Maxim won a 15-round decision from Lesnevich in May.

Both fighters will work on a percentage basis and Maxim agreed to a contract giving him 35 per cent of the net gate plus amounts derived from radio and television broadcasts.

In their previous fight both boys received guarantees with $50,000 going to Lesnevich.

Grunt and Groan Artists Play a Dual Role

By RALPH POSTLEWAITE

Contrary to their ring actions and press notices, professional wrestlers are, for the most part, likable home-loving characters. They can and do desert the brawling lusty tempo of the ring for a home life that is not unlike yours and mine.

Ivan Rasputin, one of the toughest and most durable of the ring giants, is typical of the wrestler "out of the ring". His attractive wife Sybil and two daughters, Susan Ellen, 6, and Merle Gay, 3, unite to form his most ardent following.

Sybil has been on hand countless times to hear the roar of the crowd when her husband dons the mask of his profession and leaves his corner to do battle.

But the youngsters have been present only on one occasion to watch their daddy in action. That was here, in Mansfield, when Ivan took two of three falls from Wild Bill Zimovich in a wild, scrambling melee staged both in and out of the ring.

Merle Gay, spunky and voluble, was elated and depressed by turns. At the end of the first fall, taken by Wild Bill, she was emphatic in her disapproval. "Mommy, let's take Daddy and go home", she chirped.

Susan Ellen, less dramatic but nonetheless disturbed, sat quietly through most of the bout, her emotions registered plainly on her chubby features. She is intensely moved by anything in which her father plays a central part.

Born in Chelsea, Mass., June 3, 1915, Ivan started his wrestling career as an amateur, at the age of 14. For two years he worked with YMCA teams, and then at the age of 16 he deserted the simon pure ranks for the "pro" circuit. And in just one year he had proved his ability by wrestling the junior light-heavy title of the world from Graham Stockton. That bout took place in 1932 in St. Johns, Newfoundland.

"In the last five years," Ivan said, "more wrestlers have lost their lives from ring injuries than in all the preceding years. And the answer is obvious. The public wants action, and blood. The boys give it to them."

Ivan himself suffered a broken back that shelved him for almost three years. It happened December 23rd, 1945, in the Milk Fund show at the Boston Gardens. His opponent in that ill-fated bout was Leo Numa. Not until May, 1948, was Ivan permitted to re-enter the ring.

In his 18 years of travel on the money circuit the Bear has met all of the best of them. Names such as Ed "Strangler" Lewis, Jim Londos, Everett Marshall, and Frank Sexton bring back memories to the burly Russian.

In 1935 Ivan shook the world light-heavy belt loose from Midget Fisher, in Detroit, and from 1938 to 1944 he reigned as the Pacific Coast heavy king after dethroning Sandor Szabo.

But Ivan doesn't hesitate in answering who his toughest opponent was.

"My wife."

And Ivan should know Sybil, his attractive, dark haired wife, comes from a wrestling family. On one of Ivan's first trips to her home, before they were married, three of "Syb's" brothers piled Ivan in a bit of horseplay. Although the Bear lost most of his clothes in the rough house, he wound up sitting on top of all three!

"And that's the last time I got the best of her family!" he concluded. "You see," he added, almost as an afterthought, "we were married shortly after that!"

Ivan laughs when you ask if Rasputin is his real name. And if you're persistent enough, he'll tell you that Al Haft, the Columbus promoter, was responsible for that sinister moniker way back in '35.

Rasputin is proud of his family.

"You don't have to be a good wrestler to get the kind of a family I have," he quipped, "but it helps!"

★

(Editor's Note: Postlewaite has known Rasputin for five years. In fact, he plans to accompany the Russian Bear to several of his matches next week. The wives of Postlewaite and Rasputin have been personal friends for 12 years.)

Seeks Court Order on Fund

NEW YORK—(AP)—Trustees for the estate of the late Babe Ruth seek a court ruling on what to do with royalties from the estate of the baseball idol.

A surrogate court justice yesterday directed attorneys to file briefs before presenting the case in court.

Trustees Paul Carey and Melvyn Lowenstein explained that $26,404 has accrued from royalties earned by the Babe's estate since his death last summer.

They want a court decision on whether to pay the royalties to the widow, Mrs. Claire Ruth, or to retain the royalties in the estate in which two adopted daughters will share eventually.

Ohio Baseball Ace Signs Pro Bonus Pact

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Robert (Sparky) Weygandt, star shortstop and leading Big Ten hitter with Ohio State university this spring, has accepted a bonus contract from the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said last night.

Buckeye first baseman Fred Taylor of Zanesville, O., was offered a similar contract, but declined in order to play out a remaining year of eligibility in basketball and baseball.

Weygandt, of McDonald, O., batted .438. He also had a year's eligibility remaining. Weygandt signed a contract calling for a $3,000 bonus. He is to be farmed to the Davenport, Ia. team in the Three-I league.

Taylor, a married war veteran, was reportedly offered $3,500. He batted .340 and was second in the Big Ten in runs batted in.

Contacted by phone at Wichita, Kan., where he is attending the championship collegiate game, Buckeye Coach Floyd Stahl said he would not stand in the way of Weygandt's decision.

"If big league scouts continue to grab off outstanding boys, it will ruin interest in college baseball, but I wouldn't stand in the way of any boy who has a real chance to make the big league grade," Stahl said.

Al Hager Shares Golf Honors; Smith Paces 'Special' Meet

Al Hager was forced to share honors with a host of other golfers in the regular Saturday Sweepstakes yesterday at the Westbrook Country club.

Hager, as usual, was low medalist, with a 75, but the feature of the day was a nine-blind-hole contest. Bob Henry won this even in Class A with a 36, Paul Stoodt matched the count in the "B" section, but a Class C golfer Dwight Smith paced all the others with a 35.

Other victors: Class A—low net, Mike Orr, 81-10—71; Class B—low gross, Ross Gage, 86, and low net, Pete Grant, 87-20—67; Class C—low gross, Tom Wright, 94, and Bill Beam, 98-30—68.

In the blind bogey, six tied with 77's. They were: Bill Sayre, Al Heck, Denny Schaaf, Tim Sammons, Herman Siegenthaler and George Smith. Knotted at 78 were George Meilinger and Sherman Wentz.

Things are pepping up on the outdoor situation as far as game wardens are concerned, especially uniforms. The Ohio Division of Conservation this past week voted to replace the present garrison-type cap with a snappier model similar to that sported by state highway patrolmen.

On The More Important Side, the same group voted an appropriation of $15,000 for the purchase of multiflora rose plants to be used in the department's wildlife habitat development program. Experiments have shown this new rose to be a hardy, fencelineplant which provides ideal protection and cover for game animals and birds. One million plants are to be set out over the state.

However, that $15,000 is only a small portion of what should go into the development of this important field. Pinned down to bare facts, food can be scattered all over the state and it won't mean a doggoned thing if there isn't something there to eat it. And there won't be anything there to eat it if there isn't adequate cover.

Just offhand, it seems like a good idea to have each wildlife association in the state make arrangements with every farmer possible to plant cover along fence rows or leave a few feet of grain standing at the edge of a woods or field. This would do more than any restocking program towards replenishing our depleted stock of wildlife.

★

A Prime Example Of What can happen to nature when man moves in with sewage came to light this past week on the Scioto river. Sewage from the federal reformatory at the old Camp Sherman site poured into the Scioto and fish died by the hundreds. As is usually the case when such a thing happens, the disposal plant was found to be too old to operate efficiently.

Expressing an editorialized opinion, one of the advantages of a by-lined article or story, I'm heartily disgusted that we can keep throwing silver dollars across the Atlantic and yet ignore so many things which need to be corrected right here at home.

The Marshall plan dollars being poured into Europe may be the same ones which could save our hunting and fishing from being a 'meat in the pot' on a paid for in advance deal. Practically all hunting and fishing in Europe is on large preserves at a neat fee and our present path is leading to a large sign marked with the same letters.

★

In View of Our Diminishing resources, U. S. fish and wildlife experts are exploring the European field to see if any stock from there can be raised in this country without its competing with native wildlife for existence. One bird being eyed with more than passing interest is the black grouse, a four to six pound bird which might provide the pheasant with some competition.

★

As one gentleman so aptly put it this past week, it is getting to the point where my work is beginning to interfere with my pleasure. At least that's a good alibi for my not getting around to the local waters any more than I have since returning from Arkansas.

Everyone is so busy fishing in the summer that its hard to find anyone to obtain material for the page unless I get right out in a boat and run 'em down. Such being the case, and since I'm tired of using this advertising that's sent to us under the guise of news, I hereby promise to make more trips afield and less to the corner bar. I prefer to write my own trash!

About the toad's only protective weapon is a milky fluid it gives off which is obnoxious to dogs.

Outdoor Fan Sends Query With Orchids

Dear Mr. Miller:

First, let me inform you that your Outdoors pages are certainly filling the bill and are being read with great interest by fellows like myself who are interested in outdoor activities. The News - Journal should be commended for its efforts to provide reading of the outdoors type and for its selection of yourself as the man to compose and edit the pages that provide such a wealth of reading for the sportsmen. It appears that you certainly know what you are talking about or writing about.

Next, I believe you can be of great service to the hunters of our county if you can obtain from the state department of conservation, the dates for this year's squirrel, pheasant and rabbit seasons. This information is valuable to many people because a number of them plan their vacations for the hunting season. They have to plan their vacations now in order to keep within regulations of their respective industrial plants.

It was with a great deal of surprise that I found in a copy of the 1949 Hunting Guide as compiled by the Northwest Airlines, that Ohio was a state in which no dates have been set for the 1949 season. It seems that all the other "game states" in the nation had their hunting dates listed in the guide, except Ohio. In fact, Ohio was the only state which carried the notation "Hunting dates have not been established".

I assume that the hunting season dates will be the same as last year, but why doesn't Ohio come out and say so? If you could enlighten us hunters through your columns, I am sure any information along this line will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,
Robert R. Weaver

EDITOR'S COMMENT — First, thanks for the kind words. Mal Hartley and myself certainly take on added enthusiasm when we know our work is meeting with approval. It's not a job, it's fun. Secondly — would like to give you the hunting season dates but they will not be available until after August. The State Conservation commission decided to meet then instead of in the spring so they would have up - to - date information on game population and reproduction could regulate the seasons and bag limits accordingly. There should be little variation from last year's dates, so I don't think anyone would go wrong by planning their vacations on that basis. Incidentally, there'll be some late dope on the page in a week or so concerning prospects for the coming hunting season, all facts and figures coming from men who work with out wildlife. D. M.

177-Pound Tarpon Leaps Into Boat

BOCA GRANDE, Fla. —(AP)— A 177 pound tarpon apparently decided to see what it looks like inside a boat.

The fish, uncoaxed and unaided, leaped into a 25 foot cruiser. Its impact and struggles shattered a fishing chair and damaged part of the deck flooring. It was brought under control after 15 minutes but not until it broke off part of its tail.

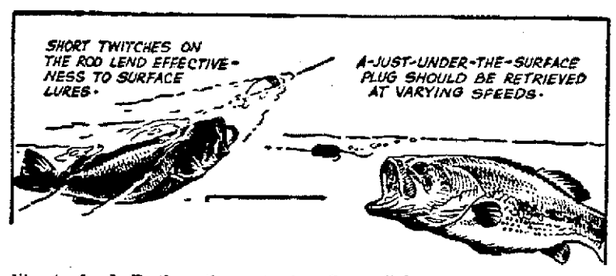
If Tackle Box Runneth Over, Discard Those Extra Plugs; Just Five Will Do the Trick

The fisherman who sports a huge tackle box filled with plugs and baits of every size, action and style may be the envy of his fellow anglers, but that display of baits doesn't mean he will catch any more fish than a man with a few baits.

According to the experts, five plugs are all the amateurs need to take care of any marauding bass there might be. Anyone who has fished less than 50 years can well be placed in the amateur class. Therefore, five plugs are all almost any fisherman requires.

The five basic categories are: (1) surface, (2) spoons, (3) spinners, (4) shallow underwater, and (5) deep running. Of these, the surface will usually take the largest bass while the spoon pays off both for bass and members of the pike family.

In the proper usage of a surface plug, the caster will do well to flip it out into a small hole in lily pads, near a stump or right at the point where a small spring or stream enters the lake. Here the big babies like to feed. Rather than start the lure back towards the boat as soon as it hits the water, the angler is wise to forget it for at least ten seconds, then twitch it by raising his rod tip in a light jerk.



SHORT TWITCHES ON THE ROD LEND EFFECTIVENESS TO SURFACE LURES.
A-JUST-UNDER-THE-SURFACE PLUG SHOULD BE RETRIEVED AT VARYING SPEEDS.

Then put on a raincoat because chances are an old lunker will shower water all over that end of the lake! He'll just sit there, probably thinking the bait is some small bird or frog which was stunned, and prepares to gobble it up at leisure. Once that lure starts to twitch, his mouth waters and he's after it before it can escape.

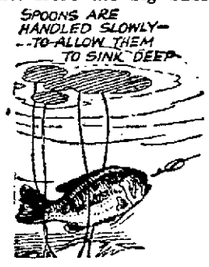
Spoons, primarily a hot-weather bait, are fished deep. Some fishermen use a counting method to determine how deep they should run. Others let the spoon sink until it's resting on the bottom, then raise it in short jerks. Few, indeed, are the tackle boxes which don't contain one or more good spoon lures.

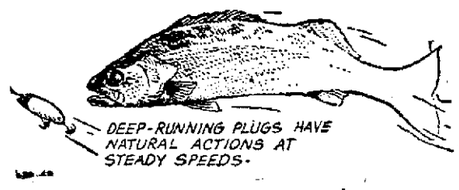
The deep-running plugs are another hot-weather bait, especially productive for bass. These sink rapidly and are retrieved slowly since bass are usually sluggish after retiring to the cooler depths. About the best patterns available are those which represent a large minnow and have good wiggling action. Simple logic will reveal that a frog wouldn't be swimming on the bottom in 20 feet of water (actually, the plugs usually run about six feet under the surface) and old and experienced bass will avoid a lure which doesn't fit in with the surroundings.

Spinners prove worth their weight in gold when it comes to picking fish out of weed pockets. The fisherman who has a weedless spinner will work each pocket carefully and will consistently take good-sized fish.

The shallow running plug is another good bait to use around weed beds, but doesn't have the ability to slither through without getting hung. It usually pays off for the man who uses it in comparatively clear and shallow water, especially over a rocky bottom where bass like to hunt for crawfish.

One or two varieties of each of these different depths are all any fisherman needs to catch his share, so why run around looking like a traveling hardware store? Fish a few, but fish them properly.





LAKE ERIE SCRAPPERS—Vern Hoffman (left), Mrs. Hoffman, and Ellory Cook are shown above with approximately half the white bass they took from Lake Erie this past week in the short period of two and one-half hours. They were camped at Gem Beach, and went fishing just off Put-In-Bay). Between 6 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. the group caught 65 of the fighters, most weighing between one and one-half and two pounds. Mrs. Hoffman "doubled" two different times, landing two bass at a time on her home-made rig of a wooden buoy and white string tied to a hook. Evidently the only feminine member of the party happened to be a good-luck charm since the men tried their hand in the early afternoon and landed only seven or eight fish.

23 Signed Up For Canadian Camping Trip

Twenty - three Mansfielders have signed up with the YMCA for the northwoods camping and canoe trip from July 27 to Aug. 8.

Boys and men 14 years of age and up will travel the canoe trail from the northwoods camp on Lake Timagami in Ontario, Canada, through the forest.

The trip from Mansfield by auto, speedboat and canoe will be 1,500 miles.

Those a ready registered to go are Douglas Brunk, Michael Rupp, Thomas Hansberger, Jack Welsh, Lowell Conner, Maurice Stretch, G. Hugh Meilinger, Ronald Roberts, David Swein, Donald McFarland, Mildred Pryor jr., Fredrick Pryor, James Endriss, Robert Wolf, James Fisher, Jack Schmidt, Charles Huston, Irl Fisher, George Gaalass, Roy Miles and Robert Y. Davis.

STURGEON CATCHERS—George List, 100 Blymyer avenue, and Mrs. George Barnes, Shelby Route 1, are shown above with two of the sturgeon caught by them on a recent trip to Canada. Mrs. Barnes nailed the biggest of the five caught by the party, a 48-incher that weighed in at 29 pounds. List boated an eight-pounder to uphold his reputation. They reported bass, pike and pickerel to be hitting well in the rivers and that the sturgeon seemed equally partial to worms and minnows.

Cleveland Shooters Cop Titles

Skeet Gunners Fire Again Today

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Two Cleveland men won first and second places in two events here in the opening round of the Ohio annual skeet championship shoot yesterday.

Only about 30 men competed in the three events completed. Major events will be run off today.

Cliff Stealey won both the sub small gauge and the small gauge titles. He broke 43 out of 50 targets in the sub small gauge event, using a .410 gauge gun with 2½-inch shells. He broke 47 out of 50 targets in the small gauge event, using the same .410 gauge gun, but with three-inch shells.

G. T. Dean, also of Cleveland, took the runner-up spot in both events, breaking 42 targets in the sub small gauge and 45 in the small gauge.

Larry Johnson of Cincinnati won the 20 gauge individual championship by smashing 96 out of 100 targets.

Joe Shelt, also of Cincinnati, was runner-up with a total score of 93.

Cliff Doughman, of Morrow was the high scorer in all three events, but had to bow to the amateurs because of his professional standing.

Doughman broke 44 in the sub small gauge, 48 in the small gauge and 96 in the .20 gauge.

Shooters were handicapped in Saturday's events by a strong breeze.

The skeet shoot is being held at the Columbus Gun Club and is sponsored by the Ohio State Skeet association.

Orders Water To Be Boiled

SOUTH CHARLESTON — (AP) — Some 1,500 residents of this village were boiling their drinking water today following an order by village manager Harry Heironimus.

The village head warned the municipal water supply was contaminated by a dangerous amount of bacteria. He ordered all drinking water boiled.

EX-ARMY OFFICER DIES

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. —(AP)—Col. William Mallard Connor, 71-year-old retired U. S. Army officer and a former West Point instructor, died Friday at his home here.

Scores 93, Wins Match

A host of 89's marked the weekly casting competition of the Mansfield Casting club Thursday with four participants joining in a "shoot-off" for the week's title.

G. E. Conant posted a nifty 93 to capture the evening's high honors.

The four who took part in the finals were Conant, Ed Miller, J. Cook and E. J. Horning.

A family duel was staged by Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Simmons, both posting scores of 88.

In the junior class, Tom Eberhardt walked away with the week's prize of a flashlight for racking up on 84, a better score than several of the seniors. The News-Journal outdoor editor happened to be passing the casters just as Tom dropped a plug into a target. That changed his mind about stopping.

Jim Cook nailed second honors in the junior class with a 74.

According to E. J. Horning, president of the club, the additional set of rings to be used by younger casters will be placed at Liberty Park some time today.

Prosperity Main Issue In Canadian Elections

Control Held By Liberals Since 1935

Prime Minister Faces Test

LOUIS ST. LAURENT

TORONTO — (AP) — From the Yukon to Newfoundland, voters across Canada will decide Monday whether to keep their Liberal party government headed by Louis St. Laurent.

It will be a national election, but more on the British pattern than in the United States style. Balloting is for 262 members of the House of Commons. When the election is over, the leader of the party that controls the most seats will form the government.

The party leader becomes prime minister. He and his cabinet hold office as long as they have the confidence of Parliament — but not for more than five years without a new election.

The Liberals have controlled the government since 1935.

St. Laurent (pronounced San Loh-Rong) is 67 and has been prime minister since last November. At that time his fellow liberal, William L. Mackenzie King, gave up the job because of ill health.

Save and soft - spoken, St. Laurent is equally at ease in either the English or French Canada (mainly Quebec province).

The other dominant figure is George Drew, leader of the principal opposition party, the Progressive Conservatives. Drew, 55, is a former premier of English - speaking, industrial Ontario. Hard - hitting and aggressive, he says that polls predicting a Liberal victory "misrepresent the views of the people;" he has pointed to the results of polls in the U. S. election of 1948.

No comparisons is possible without qualifications, but many Canadians consider the Liberal party to be Canada's nearest equivalent to the Democratic party of the United States, and the Progressive Conservatives to be nearest the Republicans.

There have been few outspoken issues in the campaign, but the prosperity of this country of 13,000,000 is naturally the main interest.

St. Laurent has told farmers that floor prices enacted by his party mean that "never again will farm products be given away for ridiculously low prices." The Progressive Conservatives likewise have promised to look out for the farmer's interests, and have hammered at the government trade policies. The Conservatives foresee a steady drop in exports when countries abroad lose ERP assistance. The Liberals, in turn, have pointed out that overall trade is at the highest level in history, and that exports to the United States have increased.

Generally speaking, the Canadian farmer has enjoyed prosperity in recent years. Farm prosperity was a big factor in the 1948 election in the United States, and many Canadians doubt that the rural population here, as a whole, has turned against the party in power.

City dwellers are another story, a story in which there is a mixture of factors for the experts to weigh. Retail prices undeniabley are high in Canada, especially when reflected against the average national income. But the city dweller's view on that is tempered somewhat, perhaps, by the fact that the national government cut income taxes last year. Employment has held at high levels.

Repair Halts Hammering In Water Pipes

Water hammer in plumbing supply pipes is annoying, dangerous and should be ended without delay, it was stated today by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Providing a simple, inexpensive air suchion will solve the problem. This consists of a one-foot length of pipe placed vertical with the supply pipe and connected to it with a tee coupling. The air cusion pipe must be installed vertically and tightly capped. It can be placed at any point where two lengths of the supply pipe join.

Water hammer is found most often in old plumbing where inside pipe diameters have grown smaller by incrustation, or where false economy led to installing too-small supply pipes. When a wide-open faucet is shut off quickly, the water keeps moving slamming hard against the faucet valve. It then tries to find an outlet elsewhere, hammering noisily against every inch of the pipe. The force delivered is equivalent to hitting the pipe with a hammer and will soon cause leaks and otherwise damage the system.

Club For Deaf Takes Recess

Meetings of the Mansfield Silent Deaf club will be discontinued during the summer months, it was announced yesterday. The next meeting will be held the latter part of September or the first week in October.

Members of the club, who are deaf persons living in Mansfield or the surrounding area, and their friends attended a picnic at South park last Sunday. Most of the 110 who attended were deaf persons, the rest relatives and friends of club members.

Albert Slusser, of Loudonville, president of the club, said half of the proceeds from the picnic will go to the Old Deaf People's home, Westerville.

Plan New Building

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Stevedore company yesterday announced it would begin construction next fall of a $200,000 marine terminal on the Cuyahoga river. The 300 foot - long warehouse will service all types of lake ships.

Costs Drop On Housing

Sizeable cost reductions for large-scale housing projects now under way in New York and Milwaukee are reported in the June issue of the Journal of "Housing," official publication of the National Association of Housing Officials. Stepped-up competition among building contractors in bidding for jobs and use of new building design and methods explain the cost reduction.

Bids taken by the New York City Housing Authority on 11 large - scale housing projects from September 1948 through February 1949 indicated that costs started declining in December. Major cost decreases were in foundation and superstructure work.

Bids on a Milwaukee housing project were $1 million less than estimated and were $3459 lower per unit than comparable 1948 projects even though units in the new project have slightly more space. Increased competitive bidding was cited as the principal reason for the decreased costs.

Improvements in design in still another New York project, Queensview Cooperative Apartments, will cut project costs by $370,000. Basements will be eliminated from the 14 buildings and an extra story built at the top of the buildings to save $100,000 on excavating, sheet piling, and basement waterproofing. Each structure is being planned with identical layouts on all floors for a saving of another $270,000.

Sellers Aided By FHA Plan

The seller of a home seldom need take back a mortgage from the buyer as was customary a few years ago, it was pointed out today by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

Under present liberal lending policies of financial institutions, augmented by FHA mortgage insurance, the usual practice is for the buyer to borrow the entire asking price, pay the seller in full with cash and thus have his loan all in one long-term amortized mortgage. In very few areas, or only under unusual conditions, is the second mortgage used.

The single mortgage benefits seller and buyer alike because most sellers of real estate want cash. The only way they could get it in the past was to sell at a considerable discount the mortgages given them by buyers. Purchasers are not burdened with two mortgages.

REPRODUCTION—One good furniture piece can transform an ordinary room into a gracious, inviting setting, for comfortable living. That's why so many beginning home-makers are choosing one or two really fine pieces to augment the "make-dos" with which they may begin home-making . . . knowing that the superior crafting and quality woods and finishes employed in these pieces will give them the durability and beauty for a lifetime of good living. Such a piece is the chest, illustrated—an authentic reproduction of a fine Early American bonnet-top highboy. The meticulous adherence to every detail, and fine workmanship evident in every line are representative of the century-old tradition of fine old Grand Rapids furniture, making it an excellent "first" selection that will provide convenience and beauty for many, many years to come.

More Basement Light Given By Slanting Windows

Daylight admitted by basement windows can be almost doubled by replacing existing small conventional sashes with windows slanting away from the top of the foundation and enclosing the triangular end spaces between the foundation and new sashes with glass.

If the foundation wall is masonry block permitting easy removal, take out a section beneath each window and excavate bays 4 feet high, 3 feet deep and as wide as the window openings. Line this with thin cinder or concrete blocks. Slant the new windows from the top of the foundation to the outer edge of the bay.

Solid concrete is difficult to remove but windows can be slanted with this construction by installing concrete slabs on top of the ground beside the window openings and resting the lower edge of the new windows on the outer edge of the slabs. All joints should be absolutely wind and water-tight.

Uses of Electricity Increasing

Fit Wiring To Future Needs

By HENRY J. WINGATE
Architectural Engineer

Convenient, efficient and economical electric service is possible only with adequate wiring. It is advisable to plan for future additions of appliances and to provide circuits and outlets for them when wiring is installed in a new house.

The entrance cable should be large enough to admit sufficient electricity for all possible future needs. Most home appliances are made for 115 volts; and equipment requiring 230 volts is also now widely used. Therefore, it is desirable to use 3-wire entrance service which provides this higher voltage.

TYPES OF CIRCUITS

General-purpose circuits serve lighting equipment and appliances such as vacuum cleaner, clock, fan, hair dryer, curling iron. One 15-ampere general circuit should be provided for each 500 square feet of floor area. At least one room should be served by two circuits so as to avoid complete darkness if trouble develops on one circuit. Wire should not be smaller than No. 14 and No. 12 is preferable.

Appliance circuits serve dining-room, kitchen and laundry; toaster, refrigerator, ironer, etc. At least two appliance circuits are recommended in every home. Each should be of 20-ampere capacity with wire no smaller than No. 12.

Individual equipment circuits are for permanently located appliances such as range, dishwasher, laundry drier, electric water heater and electric space heater. Separate circuits should be provided for such equipment.

A miscellaneous circuit will include service for doorbells, radio and television and telephone. To obtain electricity for doorbells, reduced voltage is obtained by use of a transformer. Raceways should be provided for telephone, radio and television wires to eliminate later installation of exposed wiring.

SAFETY IMPERATIVE

Double convenience outlets should be provided in each wall of every room and placed so that they are not hidden by furniture. Rooms with two entrances should have a wall switch at each door; long hallways and stairs should have a switch at each end. No switch nor outlet should be placed near kitchen sink, bathtub, lavatory or laundry trays because of the danger of shock when manipulating the switch when hands are wet. Pull-chain sockets should be used only in small closets or other locations of occasional use.

It is also well to include electrical outlets of the weather-proof type accessible to the terrace.

The human brain contains from nine to 15 million nerve cells and neurons.

Big Whisky Supply Now Ready To Go

Blends Face Hot Competition

NEW YORK — (AP) — Dust off your tonsils, folks! The liquor industry's biggest coming - out party since the war is about to begin.

For starting next month, millions of gallons of whisky will "come of age" — four years old. It's the beverage that distillers made and tucked away in storage back in 1945 after more than two and a half years of turning out war alcohol almost exclusively.

An estimated 17,000,000 gallons of this aged whisky will become available during next month alone. About 35,000,000 more by the end of the year.

That means straight and bottled - in - bond whisky — scarce since early in the war — will be cheaper and increasingly plentiful. Many brands which were suspended or tightly rationed to dealers will be revived. New ones will be introduced and intensively advertised.

And the competition between the straights and bonds on one hand and blended whiskies on the other is expected to be terrific.

But don't count on sharply lower prices for established blends. Not for several months, anyhow. The whisky makers say liquor taxes and high costs already are putting too tight a squeeze on profit margins for that.

More than half the retail price of nearly all domestic whiskies goes for federal, state or local taxes. Industry spokesmen are continually protesting that these taxes are too high. Distillers are particularly anxious to be relieved of the $3 a gallon extra wartime emergency tax which was added to the $6 rate established after the war began.

Frank R. Schwengel, chairman of the Distilled Spirits institute, said recently that the basic distillers' prices on many liquor brands have not been boosted, except for taxes, since before the war.

Yet barrels cost more than twice pre - war. Freight rates are up sharply. Labor, packaging, warehousing, advertising and insurance costs all are higher.

Nevertheless, many price and bottle - label "adjustments" benefiting the thrifty buyer are inevitable as supplies of four - year - old liquor grow. A substantial part of those new stocks, of course, will be reserved for further aging.

Reservists Study Industrial Operations In Local Plant

Members of the 2752nd Military Government Training group of the Organized Reserve corps toured Ideal Electric & Manufacturing company last week as part of their peacetime training as reservists.

The tour was arranged by Major H. N. Wood, executive officer of the group and promotion manager of the plant, and was planned as one of a series of such to keep the reservists familiar with the operations of manufacturers.

A previous tour had been made to the Erie Ordnance Proving Grounds near Camp Perry.

Colonel Stuart M. Weaver, commanding officer of the group and executive vice - president of the Ideal Electric company, and A. W. Fitzsimmons, plant superintendent, conducted the tour.

The Ideal Electric was founded 46 years ago by S. Glenn Vinson, now plant president. Starting with only 12 employes, the plant now has 310.

Switchboards, motors and generators are made, with the motors and generators ranging in size from 1 h p to 5,000 h p.

A new line of motors from 1 to 150 h p is now being introduced. Except for a small line of motors carried constantly to satisfy regular customers, the firm specializes in machines engineered to each customer's specifications. Engineers are constantly kept busy designing these machines and checking to see that the machine as ordered is sufficiently large to handle the job.

Because of these phases of operation, the company keeps a large engineering staff which will be increased in a few months by the employment of college graduates who have ranked high in their engineering courses.

The Ideal Electric Manufacturing company has 40 offices in the United States and 30 overseas. Shipments of machinery are made to South America, India, and France.

Bandit Takes Bank Measure

HACKLEBURG, Ala. — (AP) — Police today were seeking the bandit who measured windows for free and the bank of Hackleburg for $17,000.

Bank officials said the man, about 45, came in and said he was a lumber company window salesman.

He hung around, busily measuring windows until the bank closed and all employes but Cashier D. W. Stanford had departed.

The bandit then forced Stanford into the bank's vault at gun point, bound him with a belt and made off with $17,000.

It was 30 minutes before Stanford was able to free himself and notify police.

Home Handyman Can Build Own Backyard Fireplace

A backyard fireplace to add enjoyment to summer living is easy and inexpensive to build. Fire brick laid in fire clay mortar is best. Other materials needed to build a 36-inch cubical fireplace are 16 pieces of ½-inch pipe 36 inches long, one length of 8" x 8" flue lining tile, a metal grill 2 feet square and a 32 - inch length of heavy angle iron.

Make the foundation 36 inches square, extend it below the frost line and slope the top slightly toward the front for drainage. On this erect rear and side walls 8" thick. This leaves an open-front 20" x 28" firebox.

Build the three walls up 14 inches, then place the pipe lengths across the top course of brick 3 inches apart to serve as a grate. Space below provides draft and an ash - pit. Mount the pipe ends solidly in thick mortar, then continue the walls up another 22", leaving a space slightly less than 8" x 8" at the rear center of the firebox for the flue. Set the grill in mortar for the cooking surface which will be at the comfortable height of 36" above ground.

Lay one more course of brick on the three walls and place the angle iron across the rear of the firebox where it joins the chimney opening. The iron is to support the front edge of the flue, the other three sides resting on the brickwork. Lay up brick around the tile to within 2" of its top and complete the fireplace with a sloping mortar joint from the top of the tile to the outer edges of the chimney bricks.

Old Comedy Movies Seek New Laughs

Harold Lloyd Reissues Films

NEW YORK — (AP) — "New look" on Broadway these recent days has been a man who takes off his eye glasses in order to travel incognito — in contrast to Greta Garbo and other stars who favor the dark spectacles which point them out to the crowds

The difference is that Harold Lloyd is a fellow who likes to meet people, likes to stop on street corners and chat with them, and in the last few days he has made Broadway seem like a village street, remindful of his early movie, "Grandma's Boy."

Lloyd has been on Broadway for two reasons. First is that he is supervising the return engagements of many Motion Picture Sales corporation, and his other interest is that he is preparing to go to Chicago next month to be installed as imperial potentate of the Shrine, chief of the Shriners lodges.

"I am going to be busy." Lloyd said, as if dismissing the fact that he is now a very busy man. "During the next year I have to visit all the Shrine temples in North America, the Hawaiian islands and other sections.

"Next year I want to go into movie production again. I haven't decided yet whether it will be made in Hollywood, on Broadway or in Europe. In the last case, it would probably be in Italy, but that also depends upon what happens in the meantime in Europe."

Lloyd, the comedian with the wide eyes staring at an unbelievable world through tortoise rim spectacles, is greeting a new generation of film fans The reissue of his pictures begins with a comedy he made in 1932, his humorous "Movie Crazy," which will reopen on Broadway in a week or two.

After "Movie Crazy" others of his comedies, well known to Pop and Mom, will be brought back to be seen by 'teen-agers who were kids in cribs when the pictures were first shown.

Truck Crosses U. S. To Fill Film Role

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The good humor man with the longest route undoubtedly is Clarence Wellersdieck, who completed a run from Brooklyn to Hollywood in just six days. But he didn't sell a single ice cream bar.

It happened this way: Producer S. Sylvan Simon is making a picture called "The Good Humor Man," with Jack Carson in the title role. Simon needed two authentic good humor trucks from the east. (Los Angeles trucks are different) The company shipped one, but the freight bill gave Simon the shivers He hastily requested that the second truck be sent overland.

Wellersdieck, who works in the Brooklyn plant, got the assignment. He delivered the truck—chimes, deep - freeze compartment and all—on the day the studio needed it. Two hours beforehand, in fact. Then he wiped the road dust from his brow and recounted a fairly harrowing journey:

Wellersdieck and his empty truck left Brooklyn at 9 a. m. on a Monday. He reached Indianapolis before he got into trouble When he stopped there for a bite to eat several citizens wanted to know why he had no ice cream to sell. He told them. A cop, however, was downright skeptical, and Wellersdieck had to dig up a letter to escape further explanations to the police station.

A night or so later, in St. Louis, Mo, he accidentally poked the button that turns on the [illegible] The button stuck. There followed another brief brush with [illegible] before Wellersdieck, with the aid of a pair of pliers, stilled the clamor.

In Gallup, N M, Wellersdieck had a flat tire—and a stroke of luck. Two local ice cream men came along, helped him fix the tire and even gave him a carton of ice cream bars. Wellersdieck says he'll never forget them.

The truck's radiator boiled over between Needles and Los Angeles, and Wellersdieck got laughed at by a lot of passing motorists who seemed to think that an ice cream truck stranded on the Mojave desert was just about the funniest thing they ever saw. One of them at last provided a little water, along with his guffaws Our hero and his grimy truck rolled on into Hollywood, a somewhat sorry sight.

But he got two days to look over the film capital before returning to Brooklyn. By plane, that is.

Concealed Camera Fools Spectators

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — A "Hidden camera" car designed by cinematographer William Daniels proved so successful during filming of "Abandoned" that Universal - International assigned the equipment to the "Free for All" company shooting location scenes in Washington, D. C.

The concealed camera operates from the rear of a station wagon. A one - way vision glass, which looks like a mirror to outsiders, screens the lens from public view but allows the camera to register everything within range.

Robert Cummings and Ann Blyth were involved in sidewalk scenes along Washington's Pennsylvania avenue, and the hidden camera was used so that other pedestrians would proceed normally — instead of gawking at the camera.

Actor Finally Gets Unsympathetic Part

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — For the first time in seven pictures, David Niven has an unsympathetic role in "A Kiss for Corliss," with Shirley Temple

"It's about time I played a rotter," Niven said "I've been unctiously good for too long. Reminds me of a noted British stage actor with whom I worked some years ago He always played heroic, virtuous parts Never an exception.

"Then one day he held up a jeweler's shop in downtwon London He was caught and convicted Everyone was shocked of course, by this strange change in his personality When the court asked him why he had turned to robbery so needlessly, he replied, in all seriousness: 'A thief was a part I had never played. And I wanted to, very badly'."

2nd Lecture Tour Planned By Menjou

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Adolphe Menjou, who made his first lecture tour last year, has been booked for another, starting in October.

This will fill his schedule to capacity. A present he is working in "The Bandwagon," and with his wife, Veree Teasdale, in their radio show, "Meet the Menjous." He has been offered a contract to write a "How to be Well Dressed" column for a South American newspaper syndicate. And more pictures are coming up.

Menjou's first lecture tour was made in connection with his autobiography, "It Took Nine Tailors" In his next, he says, he'll switch from film experiences to politics. Incidentally, Menjou once declared that he had read every book of any importance on Russia.

Three In Same Film Have Eye Ailments

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — This is the sort of sequence that makes actors superstitious:

Universal - International reported three stars in the same film to be suffering from eye ailments. The rest of the cast began murmuring about an "eye-jinx" on "Bagdad."

Early in the picture a match flame seared Vincent Price's eyeball as he lighted a cigarette. Then somebody bumped Maureen O'Hara's elbow while she was applying a thin line of shadow beneath her right eyelid with a grease pencil. The pencil tip jabbed the eyeball, rendering it bloodshot, and she had to wear a contact lens to hide the redness.

Paul Christian thereafter suffered a recurrence of an eye infection which had caused his withdrawal from his last picture, "Sword in the Desert." So far Christian has escaped replacement in "Bagdad."

STILL PLAYS — Ray Leizer, who lost both hands fighting with Haganah, the Israeli army, in upper Galilee in 1948, demonstrates (he really plays) for Ted Mack, director of "Original Amateur Hour," on which Leizer played. (Intn'l)

STAYS LOVELY—Lovely Elizabeth Taylor who has recently figured romantically in the news, manages to look attractive even while she bathes her pet "Amy" in Hollywood. Presenting a doleful appearance, "Amy" resignedly waits for the screen actress to finish the job (International).

Landowska Carved Her Own Career As Harpsichordist

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK — (AP) — "Now that I am going to be 70, I ought to be very happy, for the dream of my life has come true," says Wanda Landowska, the harpsichordist.

Her birthday is a week from Tuesday. She has reason to be pleased with her accomplishment, for it is unique. Except for some experimenters, she is the only modern musician who has had to create not only a name for herself, but also the instrument on which she plays and the technique for playing it; and she has had to recreate, furthermore, much of the music in her classical repertory.

She unique in other ways, too. Her admirers call her the busiest, happiest, most learned of contemporary artists, and the critics agree she's the best harpsichordist they ever heard.

Besides, she's about the tiniest artist in the concert field. The woman everyone looks up to has to look up to you when you are introduced in her apartment facing Central park. Her black hair, parted in the middle, is drawn down tight at the sides. Her eyes are alive, her cheekbones prominent, her handclasp firm, her pointed face animated as she tries on you her fluent English and her fluent French.

With two Frenchwomen who are companions and also experts at harpsichord repairs, she lives in a nest of harpsichords, tables, tabourets, stuffed chairs with frills and flounces, bookshelves, carpeted floors and curtained doorways. It's crowded and homey and neat as a pin.

Born in Poland, trained as a pianist and launched on a successful career, Mme. Landowska went to Paris, where she began that concentrated research into harpsichords, their music and the ways of playing them which raised her to her present unchallenged preeminence. She gave her first harpsichord recital in Basel in 1906. It was not until 1912 that the Paris manufacturer Pleyel had improved and enriched the instrument according to her specifications; and that new and "modern" harpsichord, as she calls it, was unveiled in Breslau. It almost wasn't heard then, for a repairman had to be putting the finishing touches on it the last minute before Mme. Landowska appeared on the platform the night of the concert.

She's full of surprises. What's a harpsichord, she asks, but a beautiful museum piece and no more, unless it has a beautiful player to go with it? The way to learn Bach, she claims, is to play a lot of music besides Bach, such as Couperin. And one surprise of hers was really important: Bach's "well tempered clavier," she maintains, was for harpsichord, not clavichord.

Loudonville Opens Jap Beetle Fight

LOUDONVILLE — The Japanese beetle fight will be resumed here again this year. The truck mounted mist blower is covering the town to treat the areas known to be infected.

According to J. N. Shilliday, Ashland county agricultural agent, Loudonville seems to be the one area in the state where the beetles could become very troublesome, if every effort is not made to combat them.

Approximately 100 traps will be placed in Loudonville to aid the federal and state authorities to determine the extent of the infestation of the Japanese beetles.
